S.A. School Budget Adopted

LOWER TAX RATE LOOMS

Possible reduction of the Santa Ana school tax as much as ten cents from last year's $2.17 was foreseen today, the board of education having adopted a budget of $983,918, exclusive of interest and sinking fund, following a public hearing last evening. The new budget set-up carries a tax levy cut of $57,762.15 under last year's tax, despite an apparent increase in the operating budget of $82,842.

The increase, it was pointed out by School Auditor Harold Yost, is largely fictitious, since $50,000 of it represents an increase in the tuition paid by the elementary district to the high school district. That tuition charge merely represents an inter-departmental transfer. The taxpayer takes it out of one pocket and puts it in another, said Yost.

State Aids
The interest and sinking fund, for retirement of bonds, remains to be fixed by the county auditor, but last year it amounted to $191,478.75, and Yost said it probably would not vary more than $5000 either way this year.

The total operating budget of $983,918 is met in part by revenues from sources other than taxation, chiefly state aid, the total being $652,968, leaving a balance of $330,950 to be raised by district tax. Last year the operating budget was $901,079.64, but state aid was much less, total revenues being $539,948.49, leaving a district tax levy of $388,121.15.

Cuts Expense
The reduced tax levy this year is expected to cut last year's operating rate of $1.41 by from six to eight cents, said Yost. Inasmuch as the county auditor's bond redemption fund this year is about $14,000 greater than the preceding year, another cut in the interest and sinking rate, possibly of two cents, might be made, Yost predicted. The bond rate last year was 76 cents. A new rate of 74 cents for operating expenses and 74 cents for bond retirement, would total $2.10 as the possible new rate.

The new budget carries $439,113 as proposed high school expenditures, $281,058 as anticipated high school receipts, and $158,055 as tax levy required. Last year the budget was $405,596.69, the revenues $212,550.96 and the tax levy $194,410.48.

Budget Higher
This year the elementary budget is $388,299, anticipated revenues $243,473, and tax levy $124,826. Last year the budget was $344,672.11, the revenues $222,494.51, the tax levy $129,430.44.
This year's junior college budget is $176,050, the revenue $128,437 and the tax levy $48.069. Last year's budget was $150,810.84, income $104,603.02, tax levy $54,871.23.

Plan Hearing On Bus Rate Plea

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—(UP)—Ray C. Wakefield, new chairman of the state railroad commission, said today that the commission on Aug. 19 will review the application of Pacific Greyhound bus lines for $5 one way, $9 round trip between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The Santa Fe Transportation company has indicated it will oppose the rate cuts, which were asked by the bus lines to meet competition from lower rail and coordinated rail and bus fares recently authorized by the commission.

Shirley Temple "Much Better"

BOSTON, Aug. 2.—(UP)—Shirley Temple probably will be able to leave her hotel tomorrow. She has been in bed since Saturday with an attack of grippe.
Shirley's temperature, which had reached 103, returned to normal yesterday afternoon. Her physician, Dr. Leo J. Madsen, who flew here from California, said she was recovering satisfactorily.

Driver Held After Accident

FRESNO, Cal., Aug. 2.—(UP)—Police today were holding M. Miyasaki, 40, of Stockton, a truck driver, following the death of U. Kobayashi, 50, of Stockton in a traffic accident here late yesterday.

Kobayashi was thrown from a truck driven by Miyasaki when it went out of control and crashed into a tree near the northern city limits. T. Kamachi, 36, Stockton, another passenger in the truck, was injured seriously.

Four States Vote Today

By United Press
Four states—Kansas, Missouri, Virginia and West Virginia were having primary elections today.

In Kansas, the chief interest was in the fate of the Rev. Gerald B. Winrod, called the "Jayhawk Hitler" by his enemies, who seeks the Republican Senatorial nomination. He had been repudiated by state and national Republican leaders for alleged religious and racial bigotry.

Test "Machine"
In Missouri, the power of the Pendergast Democratic machine was being challenged by Gov. Lloyd C. Stark. Each side backed its own candidate for a vacancy in the state supreme court.

STATE SWELTERS IN RECORD HEAT WAVE

The temperature in Santa Ana at noon today was 94. The mercury then dropped to 92 at 1 p. m. because of the customary breeze from the Pacific. The mercury rose nearly 10 degrees from 11 a. m. to noon.

(By United Press)
California continued to swelter today in temperatures that soared to near all-time high recordings and resulted in scores of heat prostrations.

Two deaths in the torrid Imperial Valley and a high reading of 124 degrees at Rice, a San Bernardino county station along the Metropolitan aqueduct, were reported yesterday. Today, however, there was some hope of slightly lower temperatures although the San Joaquin and Sacramento Valleys reported high readings. It was 107 at Fresno and 108 at Bakersfield.

High Pressure Area
The U. S. weather bureau at San Francisco said the heat wave was caused by a high pressure area which was checking all cool marine air at the ocean shores.

The mercury rose in the San Francisco bay area to within four degrees of the all-time high of 82 for the same date in previous years. The highest recording occurred earlier in the morning than during the past two days, indicating, forecasters said, that marine air gradually is moving inland.

Southern California also hoped for cooler weather from ocean breezes making inroads against the high pressure area.

Former S. A. Man Gets New Eye

Medical science today sought to restore the eyesight of the Rev. W. G. Harding, blind Portland, Ore., minister, formerly of Santa Ana, Cal., by replacing one of his eyes with the eye of a woman who died Sunday, it was announced in San Francisco.

The woman donor, the late Mrs. Margaret Carr, 80, of Berkeley, Cal., learned of the clergyman's quest for an eye and arranged with authorities to have her eye given to him after her death.

Physicians said the eye was preserved through a refrigeration process recently perfected in Russia. Still "alive" it was used today in one of the rarest operations in medicine. It will be a week or more before the success or failure of the operation is known, physicians said.

Joan, Franchot Meet At Dinner

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 2.—(UP)—Joan Crawford and Franchot Tone, who recently announced their separation, dined together at a movie colony night club, and Hollywood gossip wondered today whether this meant they were becoming reconciled.

Miss Crawford and Tone separated several weeks ago but said nothing of divorce. Their meeting at the night club was their first appearance in public together since that time.

Miss Crawford arrived with Director Norman Foster and his wife, actress Sally Blane. Tone joined them at dinner. Foster said the meeting was accidental.

WILL AID TOOTHLESS

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(UP)—The WPA announced today that a contract had been signed with private dental laboratories to supply 22,000 sets of false teeth for home relief recipients here, at the rate of 136 dentures a day. The WPA formerly supplied false teeth made by dentists on relief rolls, but there were not enough of them and some persons had been waiting two years for teeth.

Cook Uses Phone To Hit Employer

ATHERTON, Calif., Aug. 2.—(UP)—Resentment over criticism of his work as cook and houseboy was given today by Pedro De Romo, Filipino, as the reason for his having beaten Mrs. Edward Pauson, his socialite employer, over the head with a telephone.

De Romo told police that Mrs. Pauson, who is under treatment at the Palo Alto hospital for a fracture of the skull, had spoken to him in regard to making surly remarks to her guests.

"I resented her criticism," De Romo said. "I wanted to explain to her. She wouldn't listen. I put my hand on her to make her listen. She hit me. I told her 'You hit me, I hit you.'"

Nab Suspect After Gun Fight

EUREKA, Calif., Aug. 2.—(UP)—Everett Gilbert Parman, ex-convict who was captured in a gun battle with police today was to be turned over to authorities from Roseville where he is wanted in connection with the fatal shooting of George McElroy, young football star.

Parman, sought since July 16, when McElroy was shot down at a Roseville business intersection, was recognized last night in a state patrol automobile light inspection by Patrol Capt. Sam Kirkpatrick.

The officer arrested Parman and was taking him to the county jail for questioning when the fugitive suddenly drew a pistol and opened fire.

SCRIPPS-HOWARD AFTERNOON DAILY QUILTS THE TOLEDO FIELD

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 2.—(UP)—The Toledo News-Bee, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, announced today that with its final edition of the day it was suspending publication.

The announcement follows: "The News-Bee will suspend publication with its last edition today."

The News-Bee, for several years, has been published at a loss. So long as it appeared that there was a place in the Toledo field for the News-Bee, its owners have been willing to sustain these losses, and make further investments, on the chance that the News-Bee would, in time, become a reasonably profitable institution. This was done in the face of greatly increased production costs, due to mounting labor costs and rising newspaper prices.

"The decision to retire from the field was based on the conviction, finally, that two afternoon newspapers cannot be published, with a fair profit for both, in Toledo, a city of 300,000. It was felt by the owners of the News-Bee to be sound business, as well as good journalism, to retire from a field which offered no hope of betterment—and to concentrate time and effort and

Peggy Giffin kissed her father, Lieut. Col. Stewart Giffin, at Governor's Island, N. He was acquitted on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer but convicted of two lesser charges, one that he knocked off an individual's hat, the second that he created a disturbance when refused admission to a party. Col. Giffin will retire next March after thirty years of honorable service with the army.

SEE TEST OF STATE'S RIGHTS AS IOWA GOVERNOR DEFIES U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(UP)—The National Labor Relations Board today defied Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel and the Iowa National Guard and announced it will re-open its interrupted Maytag company hearing in a U. S. district courtroom at Des Moines Thursday morning.

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 2.—(UP)—Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel offered today to accept a test of the principle of state's rights in connection with the Maytag Washing Machine company strike at Newton.

The test involves legality of his action in closing a National Labor Relations Board hearing through the use of martial law.

Hearing Complaints
The board was hearing complaints that the Maytag Company, closed by strike since May 9, was guilty of unfair labor practices in dealing with its union employees.

Federal attorneys in Washington contended that the governor acted illegally in interfering with a quasi-judicial federal commission such as the NLRB.

"One Good Leg"
They said he didn't have "a leg to stand on."

"I have one good leg to stand on in the national guard," the governor replied.

"If the labor board officials want to test the principle of state's rights, this is a good place for them to try it."

Kraschel said he had sought legal advice before he ordered the NLRB Saturday night to suspend its hearing.

"And I repeat," he added, "there will be no labor board hearing in Iowa without our permission."

Solon Urges 3rd Term For F. D. R.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 2.—(UP)—Sen. William H. Smithers, D. N. J., became the first senator to recommend a third term for President Roosevelt today.

He told several hundred local Democrats at a testimonial dinner last night:

"I have but one political ambition left. That is to help elect President Roosevelt for a third term. I want him to seek a third term because there is no one big enough and strong enough to carry on for him should he step aside."

Court Okehs Plan To Pay Dividend

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 2.—(UP)—Lloyd Thomas, state superintendent of banks, was authorized today by a superior court order to pay a 10.36 per cent dividend to creditors in 11 western states of the Intercontinental Building and Loan Association and an 8.34 per cent dividend to creditors of the First National Building and Loan Association.

Thomas, receiver of the insolvent firms, petitioned the court to make the seventh and final dividend payments.

WARLIKE THREATS MADE, REDS PROMISE "LESSON"

MOSCOW, Aug. 2.—(UP)—Warlike threats were voiced today at demonstrations of Russian workers over new clashes between Soviet troops and Japanese-Manchukuo forces which were reported from the Siberian frontier.

Workers gathered in the meeting halls of various factories to express support of the government and indignation over "new, insolent provocation by Japanese militarists." The official attitude, however, was described as "calm and collected."

Recapture Hill
The Tass News Agency distributed a communique which said that Russian troops had stormed and recaptured a hill from which they had been driven by superior Japanese forces along the Siberian-Manchukuo-Korea border.

Frontier guards at Karelia adopted this resolution:

"The Red Army will give such a lesson to the Japanese bandits, who have gone so far, that they will not be able to come to their senses for a long time. We always are in a state of mobilization and will carry out any order of our government and destroy the enemy."

Termed Scoundrels
Workers in the Red Triangle factory at Leningrad said:

"We have no doubt that our glorious frontier guards will be able to render crushing resistance to the scoundrels who have gone too far and will throw them off sacred Soviet land."

"Let all big or small Fascist birds of prey remember that the entire Soviet union, at the first summons of the party, the government and the great Stalin will stand up as one man for their free motherland."

Promise Support
Similar indignation was expressed by workers and engineers of the Kharkov factories and institutions. The Ordzhonikidze tractor factory workers at Kharkov said:

"We assure the party, the government of Comrade Stalin personally that we stand at any moment for the protection of Soviet borders as one man and will destroy the enemy on his own territory."

"We send warm greetings to Red army men and the commanders on the Far Eastern front, who gave an object lesson to the Japanese-Manchukuan bandits who invaded our territory," a speaker at a meeting of the Petrozavodsk garrison said.

"Energetic" Protest
Coincidentally it was announced that Constantin Smolatin, Russian embassy charge d'affaires at Tokyo, had been instructed to protest in the most energetic terms to the Japanese foreign office "and to draw its attention to the possibility of gravest consequences of the action of Japan militarists."

It was asserted that Russian-Chinese treaties and clearly marked treaty maps showed that in no incident of the last few weeks had Russian soldiers stepped an inch outside Siberia. Smolatin was instructed to make this clear also.

Santa Barbara Ready for Fete

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Aug. 2.—(UP)—This city prepared today to step backward a century on Aug. 10 when, with traditional ceremonies at the old mission founded by the Franciscan Fathers, the 14th annual old Spanish Days Fiesta is inaugurated in the light of the full moon.

The annual fiesta now is considered one of the world's most famous celebrations. At the historical parade last year more than 100,000 spectators lined the streets. This parade, which traces the history of Santa Barbara from the days of the Indian to the coming of the American, has grown into the biggest display of thoroughbred horses in recent years.

Twelve hundred of the west's finest horses were in the parade last year.

Stocks Jump To New Gains
NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(UP)—Stocks advanced fractions to 2 points today after scattered early selling disclosed strong supporting bids slightly under the market.

Trading failed to expand materially. Best demand centered in motor steel, merchandising, copper and electrical equipment shares. Rails also turned relatively strong.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem went into mid-afternoon trading with gains of more than a point each after early softness. Chrysler rose nearly 2 points and General Motors more than a point. Sears Roebuck was up almost 2 points and Montgomery Ward about 1 1/2. Anaconda, Kennecott and American Smelting had gains ranging to nearly 2 points.

Blame Heat For Six Fatalities

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 2.—(UP)—Heat was blamed today for the deaths of six persons as August came into Arizona with gusts of torrid air. The temperature approached 112 degrees shortly before 10 a. m. and humidity reached a maximum of 59.

The dead were:
William Pitts, 25, collapsed while cultivating a corn field.
Charles Irving, 40, found dead in his rooming house.
Antonio Azorio, 58, succumbed while building a house.

Isa Murich, 75, found dead from a heat stroke in front of his home.
Henry Kalberg, 40, died after drinking large quantities of water.

Ernest Jackson, 29, prostrated while working in a mine.
A coroner's report said heat was the contributing factor in all the deaths.

Cabinet Meets
The cabinet met in extraordinary session to study reports from the front and consider action. Gen. Seishiro Itagaki, war minister, and Gen. Kamekichi Ugaki, foreign minister, reported at length. After a two hour meeting the cabinet called members of the wartime cabinet council into conference. Then an emergency meeting was held by the five key men of the cabinet.

Foreign observers regarded the situation as one of greatest gravity. They expressed the opinion that it might still be possible to localize the frontier fighting. The alternative to localization would be formal war.

L. A. Astronomers See Meteor

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 2.—(UP)—Astronomers at Griffith Observatory were "momentarily dazzled" by the bright flare of a meteor which "exploded" at 9:50 o'clock last night. The meteor, they explained, was a type known as a "bolide," which explodes and showers the earth with dust instead of a solid mass.

The spectacle, which flared over the southern skies, was said to be a forerunner to the Perseid meteorites, visible after midnight on Aug. 11.

WOMEN OF PACIFIC TO BEGIN PLANS FOR 1940 CAMPAIGN

Announcing their state-wide legislative program to begin next week and carry through to the 1940 election, Mrs. Edwin Selvin, general chairman of Women of the Pacific, today issued the following statement from headquarters at 424 South Broadway, Los Angeles:

"Notwithstanding we have more than 100,000 signatures in Los Angeles county alone to our initiative petition for incorporating and regulating labor unions, we did not file.

Time For Work
"By going on the ballot in the Presidential election two years hence instead of three months from now, we have time for the essential educational work that will assure enactment of our proposed law that will rid California of racketeering union officials and eliminate the extortionate price-fixing monopolies in household necessities.

"Also this will give us time to set up precinct organizations in each county, with our petition signers as a nucleus. All valid signatures already obtained will hold good for 1940. Filings will be made in one county at a time, after the county has been thoroughly organized and only after the point of saturation has been reached in signatures. Our goal now is a grand total of 1,000,000 signers.

"As heretofore, we have no entangling alliances. We are utterly free of employer or political domination. We are all volunteer workers, with no paid officers.

Has Another Angle
"When it is considered that our organization did not come into being until February 23, that we had no money for expenses other than what the women themselves raised, we think we accomplished something in the nature of a miracle during the short space of five weeks in which we circulated petitions.

"Aside from believing that with more than two years in which to work we will be assured of enactment of our law by the electorate in 1940, there is another angle to this strategy. This initiative hanging over the heads of predatory union officials from now on will be a powerful deterrent to their guerrilla warfare against the public interest, convenience and necessity. Every overt act of theirs meanwhile will make votes for our law.

See Nation-Wide Move
"Lasting enthusiasm and determination have been generated by the magnificent performance the women have made against seemingly insuperable obstacles.

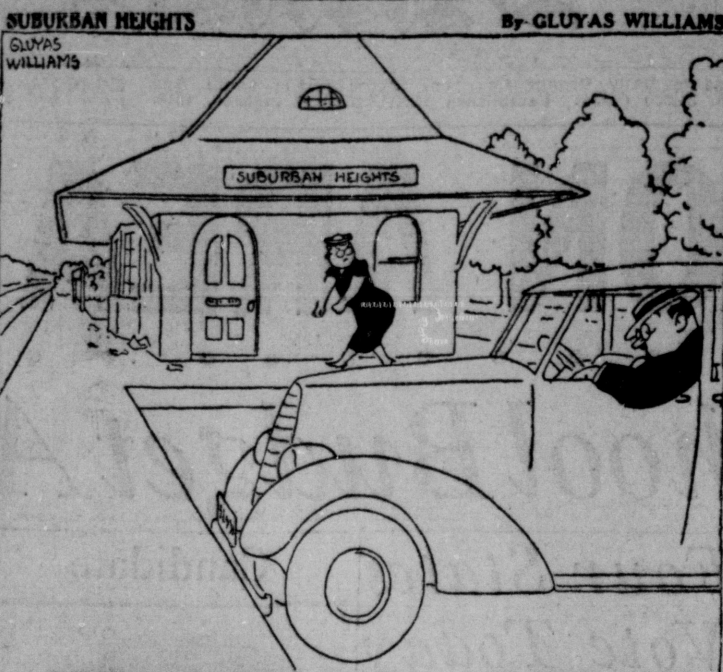

"Our work has attracted national attention. We receive requests from women all over the country for our plan of organization and copies of our proposed law, as they want to start the housewives' crusade in their own home states. We believe that from California will spread over the country the real and only cure for labor union racketeering.

"We are not opposed to labor unions. Our whole effort is in behalf of workers and consumers so that exploitation of both may be eliminated, and control of unions returned to actual workers who pay the bills.

"We call on all good citizens to help us re-establish industrial freedom not only in California, but throughout America."

BOY IS SOUGHT

FOUR ELECTED TO J. C. POSTS

Five new teachers were elected by the board of education last evening, four filling vacancies in junior college, high school and Delhi elementary school, a fifth being added on one-third time to the junior college staff, the rest of his time being employed by Tustin high school.

Orville M. Knutson, graduate of University of California at Berkeley and assistant to the professor of Fruit, Main to Maybury; Broad-years was elected instructor of political science and economics at junior college, to replace L. L. Beeman, retired.

Two previous selections for this vacancy accepted higher salaries elsewhere, the latest, Don C. Mayes, going to Coalinga Junior college.

Others Elected

Byron M. Holmes, also assistant in the department of political science at U. of C. was elected to a similar post at Santa Ana high school. Elmer E. Warner, from Santa Barbara State college, was elected shop instructor at high school.

Arthur M. Hanson, of Inglewood, was elected to the Delhi school faculty, replacing Russell Hathaway, who resigned.

Increased work in the industrial arts department of junior college caused the board to add a part-time teacher there, Leonard F. Tate, who will divide his time between junior college and Tustin high school.

The board renewed last year's contract with the Y. M. C. A. for use of physical education facilities for junior college students.

The bid of L. D. Coffing of $650 on purchase of a "pick-up" truck was accepted as was Coffing's bid of $1435.81 on a 1-1-2 ton dump truck. A $1579.61 bid on a budgetary accounting machine was accepted. The Standard Fence company bid of $1049.61 on a five-foot chain-link fence for Delhi school grounds was accepted.

H. B. Judge Seeks Additional Work

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 2.—Judge C. P. Patton of the city court last night requested the city council to either make his job a part time one, or else give him other work to do so that he could earn a larger salary. He explained that under the ruling of the present charter that his salary could not be raised above $75. He also suggested that if the job were part time he could work on the outside.

NEW UNION JUNIOR COLLEGE PLANS ARE READY FOR PWA

Giving its final okay to the contract for employing Architects Austin and Wildman, of Santa Ana, and Donald Beach Kirby, of Newport Beach, to prepare preliminary plans for the proposed union junior college, for a fee of $800, the Santa Ana board of education last night authorized presentation of the plans at PWA offices in San Francisco.

State Employment Service Rapped

An estimated crowd of 1500 at Irvine Park last night heard Congressman Harry R. Sheppard sharply rebuke the state administration of the California Employment Service and announce that contracts for the construction of Prado Dam would be let within 30 days.

The occasion was an all Orange county picnic at which Sheppard was the guest of honor and principal speaker of the evening.

County School Superintendent Ray Adkinson was master of ceremonies at the meeting and introduced the following candidates for county and state offices: Logan Jackson, Jesse Elliott, L. W. Guy, Mark Geeling, Fred Sidelot, L. A. Bortz, Elmer Hughes,

William Lambert, Robert Cruzen, George Holden, Elmer Guy Joel, George Holden, Elmer Guy, Joel W. A. Howland, Robert Crowley, Anthony Parra and Homer G. Ames.

Harold Thoreson, secretary to Sheppard, briefly told of the congressman's activity during the past year in Washington.

VEGETABLE WORK CONTINUES WITH 75 EMPLOYEES REPLACED

Lucas Lucio, representative of Orange county Mexican laborers and field workers, reported today that "1250 vegetable workers employed by Japanese ranchers in the Laguna Beach, Stanton and Talbert districts met last night at Talbert, agreed to continue the strike until they are granted a five-cent increase in wages per hour." They now get 25 cents per hour, he said.

At the same time, George Graham, secretary of the Associated Farmers of Orange county, stated that he had learned that "75 workers had quit—and their places taken over by new men."

Cites Crop Prices
Lucio added, in his statement, that Mexican members of the A. F. of P. probably would join "the 250 men in a sympathy strike in the county."

"I am going to have an interview with a representative of the Japanese growers in Santa Ana at 9 a. m. tomorrow," he said. "We will discuss the wage problems."

Graham today said he interviewed Japanese growers yesterday and that they declared the crop prices prohibited them from paying more than 25 cents per hour for a nine-hour day for crop workers. Graham was informed, he said, that considerable acreage, including one 700-acre area of beans, had been disced under because the growers could not pay more than 25 cents per hour for harvesting the crop.

Lucio claimed growers violated an arbitration board agreement whereby the 30-cent wage was to remain effective until July 31, while wages had been cut to 25 cents July 1. Graham said one grower he knew of thought the agreement ended July 1, cut the wages but later made proper adjustment upon learning the correct date.

Crocker Family Moves To S. A.

Recent arrivals in Santa Ana are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Crocker and daughter, Margaret, 1530 North Sycamore street, who came to this city from Washington, where Mr. Crocker formerly was co-owner of the Shelton Journal.

Crocker, who has been in the newspaper business for the past several years, is entering the insurance field, and has the agency for Acacia Mutual Life Insurance company. He and his family made their home at Hood Canal, Wash., for the past year while he was identified with the Shelton Journal. Previous to that time they resided in Ames, Ia., where Crocker had been editor of the Daily Tribune for a number of years.

Two other members of the family, the Crocker's sons, are John, who is attending Iowa State college, and Thomas Jr., who is studying in a Seattle business college.

CONSIDER LEGION UEA

A request of Harold Brown and Otto Jacobs, committee representing the Santa Ana American Legion, for donation of $650 of city funds to send the Legion drum corps, Legion auxiliary drill team and auxiliary quartet to Los Angeles for the national convention beginning September 17, was referred to committee by city council last night. Councilmen Joe Smith and William Penn were named as committeemen to make recommendation.

They are Pasqual Garcia, 46, Mexicali, 30 days; Manuel Romero, 34, Chihuahua, 40 days, for immigration law violations and Jesus Guadarrama, 54, Calexico, six months plus a $100 fine for violating the customs act.

Aye, 'Twas a Bonnie Wedding

A happy pair—Miss Louise Miller of New York City, 18-year-old granddaughter of the late steel master, Andrew Carnegie, and J. F. Gordon Thompson, 41-year-old Edinburgh, Scotland, barrister. The bride, radiantly smiling, is being escorted by the groom, who is also smiling. They are surrounded by guests, some of whom are seated at tables. The setting appears to be indoors with a decorated ceiling.

New Troops Join Japanese Drive

Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson and his staff moved embassy documents aboard the United States Gunboat Luzon which, escorted by the Gunboat Tutuila, steamed upriver toward Chungking, the new capital, where the Chinese foreign office moved last week.

Embassy On Ship

The embassy temporarily will be located aboard the Luzon as it was shortly before and after the fall of Nanking last December.

Other foreign diplomats were expected to leave for Chungking soon.

More than 200,000 workers were pressed into service building fortifications outside the city and in the streets.

Today, the Japanese opened a new offensive north of the Yangtze river in an attempt to break the Chinese resistance which had halted for the moment, their campaign against Hankow.

Drive Halted

The Japanese admitted that their drive up the Yangtze valley has been halted, but claimed that strong reinforcing columns from Anhwei province striking from the north, had reached the Chinese river defense west of Kiukiang.

It appeared to foreign military observers here that the Chinese had abandoned their plans to withdraw nearer to Hankow and had launched a counter offensive instead.

REED TAKES EARLY LEAD

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 2.—(UP)—Clyde M. Reed, former governor of Kansas, today gained an initial lead in the contest for the nomination for U. S. Senator in the first unofficial and incomplete reports from the Kansas primary.

The first two counties to report gave Reed almost a two to one ratio over the Rev. Gerald B. Winrod who was reputedly by the regular Republican organization because of his alleged racial and religious intolerance.

Four States Hold Elections

In Virginia, Rep. Howard W. Smith, Democrat, who opposed many New Deal proposals in the House, was running for re-nomination against William E. Dodd, Jr., a 100 per cent New Dealer. Smith charged that high New Deal officials, seeking to "purge" him, had aided Dodd's campaign.

The West Virginia campaign developed no issues of national importance.

In all four states, all parties were nominating their candidates for congressional and state offices.

Two other primaries will be held this week. On Saturday, Kentucky Democrats will decide Sen. Alben W. Barkley and Gov. A. B. Chandler for the senatorial nomination. President Roosevelt campaigned for Barkley and New Deal prestige is at stake.

On Thursday, in Tennessee, the Crump machine of Memphis and the Gov. Browning state machine will battle for dominance.

Printers Submit Combination Bid

CITY COUNCIL last night dealt lightly with the press and sons of the Sherman Anti-Trust act when it referred a combined bid from 12 local printing establishments for the city's printing work to be done during this fiscal year, to City Auditor Banks for checking.

But one bid, that of the 12 printing establishments, was submitted. It was $1,950.51. "Why advertise for bids if but one bid is to be submitted by 12 firms?" asked Councilman William Penn.

"The reason for advertising for bids is to get competitive bids," City Atty. Lew Blodgett stated, "but this is certainly not a competitive bid."

The auditor declared he could see no way to handle the situation if the printers wished to agree to share in the city's printing job each day.

"Perhaps the Sherman Anti-Trust act should be put into effect," Councilman Joe Smith chuckled. "But was asked to make recommendation."

CITY REJECTS $4765 CLAIMS

Claims of two Santa Ana women for damages resulting in accidents were denied by city council last night upon recommendation of City Atty. Lew Blodgett. The claims totalled $4,765.

Mrs. Florence Bagley claimed $2,500 for personal injuries received, she alleged, when her car and a city car driven by Hugh Neighbour, water superintendent, collided at Bristol and Edinger March 29. She also asked $425 for car damages; $35, medical expenses; $50, loss in salary; and $80 damage to clothing.

Claimed Sidewalk Faulty

Mrs. Susan M. Fritcher, 712 Bush street, asked $1,500 for personal injuries; $45, medical care, and $150, loss of salary, as result of a fall on a sidewalk on the west side of North Main near 10th street May 18.

She claimed the sidewalk was faulty and caused the fall. The city attorney held the city could not be held responsible in either case. The city auditor was instructed to notify Mrs. Bagley's insurance company of the city council's action.

NAVAL BATTLE IN PROSPECT OVER CORRIGAN

MANHATTAN IN ALL-DAY RIFT

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(UP)—A possibility—a remote one—of a naval battle developed today as two rival reception committees insisted that they were going out to meet Douglas Corrigan and that each would bring him ashore from the liner Manhattan.

One would take him to Brooklyn borough, for a colossal parade down Flatbush avenue; the other to Manhattan for a ticker tape parade up Broadway and a welcoming at city hall by Mayor F. H. LaGuardia.

Both Calling Him
Corrigan, returning from Ireland to where he flew on his wrong way trip, was getting sketchy reports of the feud by radio telephone aboard the incoming ship. Both delegations were calling him.

Stanley Howe, the mayor's secretary and chief of the Manhattan faction, said Corrigan assured him that he was interested only in the ticker tape and city hall celebration. Howe had reporters watch while he made the call and confirmed Corrigan's decision although they couldn't hear what Corrigan said.

James A. Kelly, speaking for Brooklyn and all the Irish of the city, said maybe Corrigan said such a thing and maybe he didn't, and Brooklyn's parade, planned for two weeks, would proceed as scheduled.

Quarrel All Day
They quarreled all day yesterday. Howe said it was too much to ask policemen to handle crowds for two parades in one day and there would be but one parade—Manhattan's. Kelly said

50TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED WITH OPEN HOUSE

Holding open house at their pleasant home 412 South Orange street, Orange, yesterday afternoon and evening, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Meyer, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Meyer were married at Lincoln, Neb., in the home of Mrs. Meyer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McClelland.

They have lived in Orange county for the greater part of the time since 1914, when they came to California. In coming to Orange county they purchased a ranch on East Collins avenue, eight years later buying their present home.

Many Gifts Received
The home yesterday was filled with bouquets of flowers in many lovely shades of yellow from pale gold dahlias to deep gold gladioli blooms. A table in the dining room held the many gifts and cards received by the couple. Gifts included topaz crystal, gold encrusted china, a handsome floor lamp, a set of dishes and many other articles.

Refreshments were served from a long table centered with a long basket of maidenhair fern and half-blown roses. Silver candelabra held white tapers and a silver tea and coffee services were at ends of the table. Mrs. K. W. McCoy and Mrs. R. M. Schwartz, sisters of a daughter-in-law, Mrs. O. A. Meyer, poured.

Brooklyn's Sheriff James V. Manzano would deputize all the men needed to handle the parade there.

If the police department refuses us a marching permit we are marching anyhow," Kelly said. "And if anybody is arrested, history will be made. Ever since consolidation (into greater New York) Brooklyn has remained in short pants and this committee is going to put long trousers on it."

Just As Good a Boat
Brooklyn's claim to Corrigan was that he took off from Floyd Bennett field in that borough. Manhattan's claim was the tradition that home coming heroes were paraded up lower Broadway.

Howe said the Manhattan committee was going out to get Corrigan at the quarantine station. Kelly said the Brooklyn committee would have just as good a boat and would meet the Manhattan at Ambrose channel, farther out in the harbor.

Wedding Event Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Meyer celebrated their 50th anniversary yesterday at their home at 412 South Orange street, Orange, with an open house in the afternoon and evening. A family dinner was served at 6 o'clock.

MINIMUM GOVERNMENT CONTROL IN FARMING URGED BY GROUP

BERKELEY, Aug. 2.—The placing of all industries under government ownership or control when, for technological reasons or otherwise, they are compelled to operate as monopolies, has been recommended by a number of the leading farm economists of the West, included in the roster of the Western Farm Economics association.

The resolution presented to the annual meeting of the Association in Bozeman, Mont., July 8, was made public here today. The Association is to hold its 1939 convention in Berkeley in the third or fourth week of June. The president is Dr. H. Cruz Venstrom, University of Nevada; the vice president, Dr. M. K. Bennett, Food Research Institute, Stanford University; and the secretary, Dr. J. M. Tinley, Giannini Foundation, University of California.

The Association consists of 130 of the leading staff members of universities and agricultural colleges in the eleven western states, and other farm technicians.

In a sweepingly broad program of general farm improvement adopted at the Bozeman meeting, the resolutions call for minimum government control over farm wages and prices, a balanced increase in the total output of all consumable goods and services, a rationalization of the physical and economic organization of the transportation systems, the need for academic freedom and thorough research into every long time factor affecting the welfare of agriculture as a whole.

The resolutions hold that "it is imperative in a democracy that the voting public be familiarized with the broad principles underlying the functioning of an economic system, because only in this way will there be reasonable assurance that voters will elect representatives who will sponsor legislation in the general interest."

The resolutions also held that the institutions of learning should give serious consideration "to a more effective education of the general public to the operation of the economic system."

MAN VANISHES AFTER QUARREL WITH WIFE ABOARD NORMANDIE

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(UP)—Federal agents learned today from seamen aboard the Normandie that Prof. Robert Moore Duncan, 35, of Colgate university, had quarreled with his wife Sunday night before he beat and choked her and disappeared, apparently overboard, while the ship was 500 miles at sea.

The Normandie docked last night with first details of the mystery.

Mrs. Duncan was met by her father, Dr. Willard S. Richardson, who forbade her to talk to newspapermen. They went home immediately. Those aboard the ship said Mrs. Duncan had told them that her husband sprang at her throat without provocation while they were standing at the deck rail, after dinner Sunday evening.

A seaman carried her to the ship's hospital and sounded the alarm, but Duncan was gone.

Duncan was a professor of political science, a graduate of Princeton. He had taught at Texas Christian University and at Yen Ching University in China before going to Colgate. His short temper, and apparently trying to force her over the rail into the ocean 55 feet below. Brouard ran down to the deck, carried her to the hospital. He summoned Dr. Joseph Bohec, ship's surgeon, and Henry Villar, chief purser.

Mrs. Duncan had swooned. She revived and screamed: "Get my husband. Please save him. He'll jump overboard."

While Dr. Bohec was treating her for cuts and bruises of the face and throat, Villar organized a search for Duncan. There was no trace of him. Announcements were broadcast over the loud speaker system and all passengers still awake were questioned. None had seen him. By that time it would have been futile to put the ship about and search the sea, as Duncan would have drowned in a few minutes even had he tried to save himself.

The Duncans had left their two children at home. Mrs. Duncan told ship's officers that her husband had sprang at her on some blind impulse. She said the only liquor he had had that evening was a bottle of white wine with dinner. Brouard confirmed that Duncan did not seem to be drunk.

The word "acre," taken from the Anglo-Saxon "aeger," originally meant a field of any size.

By THE BAT BOY

There's an old saying among newspapermen that goes: "We don't make much money but we meet a lot of interesting people." The meeting of interesting persons is an experience the newspaperman cherishes.

Yesterday it was my pleasure to shake hands with and listen to, one of the most interesting and lovable characters I have ever met.

His name is William C. Lynch. He lives in San Diego, retired, and with his equally lovable wife enjoys the fruits of three quarters of a century of contented living—three quarters of a century filled with memories such as come to few men.

It was just half a century ago, in 1888 that Bill Lynch, then a youth of 25 embarked on a journey that was destined to make history. Bill with 35 others, made the first globe-girdling baseball journey. On that memorable tour were such outstanding characters as Cap Anson, manager of the Chicago Cubs; A. G. Spalding, the Chicago Cubs; John K. Tenner, later governor of Pennsylvania and president of the National League; Johnny Ward, captain of the New York Giants; John Healy; Mark Sullivan and others.

Although 50 years have passed since the team sailed out of San Francisco Bay, Bill Lynch can recall every incident of the journey. Sidelights that never reached the columns of any newspaper are recounted by this interesting man of 75 years young.

In telling of the journey Lynch says three men, Anson, Spalding and Lynch's brother Lee put up $4000 each. Ward took a team of All-Americans and Anson the entire Chicago Cubs team on the journey. The Burlington railroad gave them transportation, meals and Pullmans to San Francisco. The first stop out of San Francisco was Australia, 26 days out from the Golden Gate.

"In Australia," said Lynch, "we ran into something new for us boys. The Australians were and always have been, opposed to professionalism. So it was my job to write a character sketch for each member of the two teams for the edification of the Australians. I had pretty tough picking trying to build up some of these tough babes into simon-pure amateurs. However it was accomplished and when we left Australia was sold on American baseball and the players. Of course A. G. Spalding didn't do bad in selling his goods."

Then followed games in Calcutta, Paris, Rome, London, Glasgow and numerous other places. The two teams were gone six months and one day and came back with $97,000 in addition to the original $12,000 subscribed by the three "angels".

Lynch told of barnstorming and circus tricks. He told of how the two teams went out on the six mile road to the Pyramids. The Cubs rode camels and the All-Americans donkeys. The boys were pretty sore when they got back to town but Lynch didn't say whether the game was postponed, although he said it was torture for most of the players to sit down.

One amusing incident after another was related by Lynch. He said although the Cubs in all games were billed as the leading attraction, it was the All-Americans who won most of the games. Ward agreed that the Cubs were to win one game just to make it interesting. New Crane, hurling for the All-Americans, hurled was taken into the secret. Only three knew about it.

The first Chicago batter hit safely and so did the next one. Then the third man connected safely and while going down to first base turned around to look back and shouted "You haven't got it, we'll get you today," big Ned Crane felt all about the agreement and proceeded to uncork some rare pitching and a Cub crossed the plate and the All-Americans won another victory.

Returning home to New York the globe trotters were the guests of the city at a big banquet at Delmonico's.

Mark Twain, the great humorist, was one of the guests at the big reception.

Those were the days when only the catcher wore gloves. Lynch tells of the inauguration of the mask and a protector for the catcher. He said:

"We had a 9-year-old colored boy, Clarence Duval, with us as mascot. In many foreign ports baseball was unknown, and the mask and chest protector had never been seen. Coming into stations, we would dress Clarence up in those contraptions, tie a rope around him and he would make dashes at the crowds, which would scatter in fear whenever they looked at him."

I'm going down to San Diego one of these days and get into conversation with Bill Lynch again. It won't be a luncheon date either. I'm going to have a long chat with him and some of his stories I'm going to unload on you. They'll be worthwhile. More later.

Baca Brothers Victorious On Weekly Fight Program

DEPART AFTER BOUTS TO SEE SICK MOTHER

Although they were in receipt of an urgent telegram calling them to the bedside of their mother in El Paso, Texas, the Baca Brothers proved to be a packed house of enthusiastic fans that they are real troupers by going on with their "show" and doing a right good job of it, before hopping the bus for the Southern city, and the audience, to show their appreciation, showered the ring with dimes, quarters and halves, making up a goodly sized purse to assist the two game little scrappers on their long trip.

Fernie Baca, although visibly worried, conquered the Navy, in the form of Sailor Myrtle, in a big way. Myrtle, although tough and willing was confused from the start by Baca's flying gloves. Fernie went around the navy boy like a cooper around a barrel in the first, second and third rounds giving the sailor a merry boxing lesson. Myrtle came out strong in the fourth with the intention of evening things up, but was again met with more sizzling gloves than he ever knew existed and after a brief rally resigned himself to "coast the round out" which he did, giving Baca an easy decision.

Gomez Wins

Felix Gomez was awarded a close decision over Kid Buddy, snappy little colored scrapper. Buddy made a jump out of Gomez in the third and fourth rounds, hitting the Mexican with everything but the ring buckets and a good many fans thought the colored boy had earned the nod, but the judges had too many points chalked up for Gomez in the early rounds to be in accord with the customers.

Les Washleschen, Long Beach heavy, outpointed Sailor Joe George in a rip snorting battle that was close enough to keep the fans on edge throughout the four rounds. Sal Baca met up with the toughest scrap in his career at the local arena in the form of Tino Sanchez, game little Los Angeles boxer. The boys stood toe to toe, peppering each other with everything they had for four solid rounds bringing the fans to their feet on many occasions and proving to one and all that they could both take it as well as dish it out. The results were so close that a referee's decision was necessary and Baca was given the nod. Steve Nyland was the third man in the ring.

Barron Makes Hit

Joe Barron, ringwise L. A. boxer made a hit on his first local appearance by giving Bud Slater of Long Beach the boxing lesson of his life.

Jimmie Flynn of Uncle Sam's navy knocked Santa Ana's Paul Brown out colder than a mackerel in the third round of a hectic battle. Brown started off like a cyclone but the young sailor could take everything the local boy had to offer and after dropping the first round to Brown, gave him a reminder that he should long remember.

Bert Duran, Buena Park, took a close decision from Jack Darcy, U. S. Navy.

Ray Sanchez ko'd Joe Martinez in the third. Martinez was floored five times before he decided to stay down.

Haans Take Lead In Auto League

It will be Santa Ana City Garage vs. W. R. Gordon tomorrow night and O. R. Haan vs. Grant Rings Sales Friday night as a result of last night's Santa Ana Automotive league playoff at the Orange park.

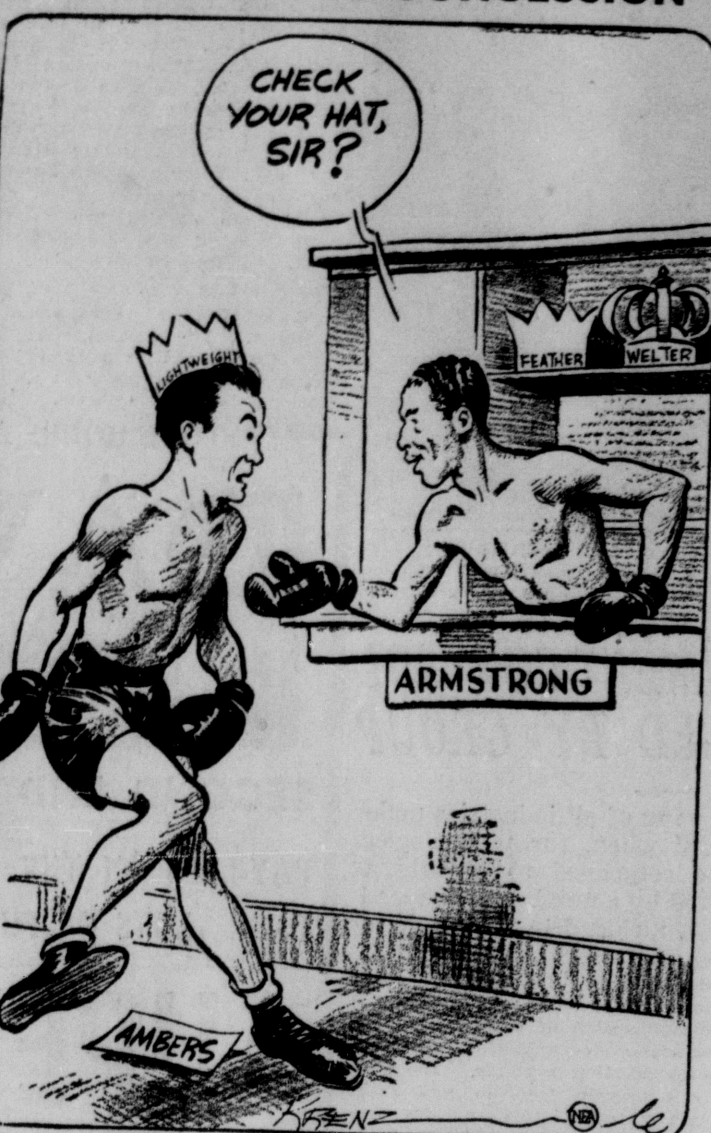

O. R. Haan broke the tie for the league leadership with City Garage with an extra inning 3-2 victory over the Citymen. Grant Rings Sales topped W. R. Gordon's Buicks 11-3 in the second game, to clinch third place.

The Haan-City Garage encounter was a pitcher's battle all the way between James Webb of Haan and Elmer Smith of City Garage. Bob Poston scored the winning run in the eighth inning of the scheduled seven inning game.

Snake Battles Staged

MARYSVILLE, Cal.—(UP)—Staged battles between rattlesnakes and king snakes constitute one of the high spots of Rod and Gun club picnic here. The king snake, a natural enemy of the rattlesnake, usually maneuvers in such a manner that it can wrap itself around the rattler and squeeze it to death.

In This Corner BY ART KREN A PROSPEROUS CONCESSION

This Week Important One For Pittsburgh

By HENRY McEMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(UP)—This country of ours is a great one for "weeks." We have apple week, cotton week, cat week, gingham week and corn-on-the-cob week, to name a few.

Some of the baseball critics, figuring that one more week wouldn't hurt matters, have named this one "National League Week," because it might very well decide the winner of the 1938 National pennant.

Within the next six days the Pirates and the Giants and the Cubs come to grips and the results of their meetings will have an important bearing on which is to be first in line at the October pay-off.

Take the Pirates, for example. Right now they are a hold and outcastes drawn, and on top with a five-game lead over the Giants and seven and one-half game margin over the third place Cubs.

That's a big margin with the season nearing the three-quarter pole, but will the Pirates hold it? In the past few years the Pirates have earned for themselves the unenviable nickname of the "old accordion men," meaning they can fold up and blow a lead with less effort than any club in the league. The Pirates of earlier years could do a bit of folding, too, as all who remember 1921 will recall.

The Pirates of that year came east in mid-August with a lead of seven and one-half games and a high score for the other teams. They brought along musical instruments which they played in the dug-out. They sang and frolicked between innings. They insisted the cameramen take pictures of them in different poses to use when world series time came around. Then the Giants banged these gay Buccaneers five times in a row and broke their spirit. They went into a dazing tail spin and the Giants went on to win.

All around the league the boys are waiting for the Pittsburghers to fold once more. This week may tell. Let the Bucs take two of three from Boston, where they open today, and the same number from the Giants and they will be pretty close to it.

As for the Giants the week will make or break them. They open with Gabby Hartnett's Cubs at the Polo Grounds today in a series that promises all of the fireworks that marked the clashes between these two teams when McGraw was master-minding the Giants. A master sweep for the Cubs would lift them into second place and establish them as the challenger the Pirates would have to beat off in the run down the stretch.

This week offers the Cincinnati Reds a fine chance to better themselves. With the Pirates, Cubs and Giants whacking away at one another the Reds have nothing more difficult to overcome than the Phillies and the Brooklyn. It is entirely possible that next Sunday will find the Reds in second place, sights set on the top rung.

Jack Doyle, veteran Broadway betting commissioner and one of the newest judges of baseball in the country, is one who doesn't expect the Pirates to fold. Jack's latest National League quotations has them at the short odds of 7 to 10 and the Giants at 5 to 2.

Montgomery Ward's Champions of '37 were making a strong bid today for the second half championship of the Santa Ana City League as teams swung into the final two weeks of play.

Aided by the recent ineligibility ruling and victories in their last two starts the Wardmen were entrenched in third place in the standings today and only two games out of first place.

Games last night saw the Montgomery team eke out a hard-earned 7 to 5 victory over M. E. South's Mustangs and Alliance Mutual break a 3 to 3 deadlock in the ninth inning to win 5 to 3 from the hard trying Tresweet Products nine.

A four run rally by the Mustangs in the sixth inning of the curtain raiser took the game up to 5 to 3. A two run rally in the seventh by the Wardmen ended the Mustang threat and clinched victory for Wards.

Russell Gundersen's triple and singles by Nathan Levens and Halderman sewed up the nine inning game for Alliance Mutual Life in the eighth, when Gundersen and Levens raced in with the winning wins. Elmer Rhoton, Tresweet Product center fielder sent the game into extra innings in the sixth when he scored on one of the most unusual plays of the year. Six errors figured in the play. Rhoton was safe at first on Everett Winkler's error in the pitchers box, and went all the way around on five successive errors by Alliance Mutual infielders and outfielders.

Orange county nightball teams were in the midst of one of the hottest pennant drives in years today as four teams came down the home stretch abreast today. The idle Tustin team was just a nose in front as San Juan Capistrano, Placentia, Yorba Linda and Laguna followed in close order.

The biggest surprise happened at San Juan Capistrano where Placentia lowered the boom on Orange county nightball teams.

Armstrong Cut Up By Partners; Odds Drop

BY LESLIE AVERY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(UP)—Training camp cuts suffered by Henry Armstrong caused the odds to tighten today on his odds to tighten today on his lightweight title a week from tomorrow night at the Polo grounds.

Armstrong, who already holds the featherweight and welterweight championship, was gashed on the right cheek and lower lip by sparring partners Sunday. It was the first time Henry's skin had shown a tendency to cut easily since he crashed the big time a year and a half ago.

Ambers, who won the lightweight title from Tony Canzoneri Sept. 4, 1936, is strictly a "powder puff" puncher, but he probably inflicts as much facial damage with his lightning uppercuts as any man in the ring. In his last title defense, as a 3-1 underdog, Lou cut up Pedro Montanez so badly, he was lucky to last the 15 rounds.

There had been little interest in the approaching 135 pound title scrap because Armstrong had been a 3-1, or better, favorite.

The PAYOFF

BY HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service

A knockout by Red Burman two years ago knocked Buddy Knox into line . . . a line which may lead to a battle with Joe Louis.

Knox won dance cups before Burman convinced him that late hours and swing music didn't mix with mangling mugs.

Knox is a pugilistic child of the depression. He's dabbled in boxing since he was 16, but it wasn't until he lost his job as a candymaker in Dayton, O., that he turned to it in a serious way.

A beautiful Dayton girl he wooed and won helped, too. So did Buddy Knox, Jr., now seven months old. "I always liked to fight," explains Knox. "I guess it's the Irish in me. When I was 16 I saw a friend of mine fighting. I knew I could lick the stuffin' out of him, so I began fighting. I've fought as a middle and light-heavyweight and 'way back there, I went into some amateur bouts weighing 98 pounds."

Knox, who has had 36 professional engagements, is more impressive in every start.

He dropped Al McCoy of Boston in an early round and out-finished him to take a 10-round decision in Chicago the other night.

He moves nicely . . . may go some distance.

Wins Title After Barely Making Team

John Paul Burke won the intercollegiate golf championship after barely making the Georgetown team. Burke had to score birdies on the 17th and 18th holes of the elimination trials to earn the sixth and last place on the Hova squad by a single stroke.

He has one of the smoothest of swings, and plenty of spunk. He landed a 50-foot putt on the home green to beat Bill Daddio, Pittsburgh's great end who is almost as good a golfer as he is a football player.

Willie Turnesa of Holy Cross during the afternoon only to lose, 2 and 1. Kovacs was hot that day. Burke won the Rhode Island Open in 1936 and '37.

He learned his golf from his brother, Edmund Burke, professional at the swanky Newport, R. I., Country club.

Santa Ana at Whittier; Anaheim at Orange; Huntington Beach at Irvine; Brea at San Bernardino.

This National league night ball race has reached the stage where it's a mighty serious business so far as Santa Ana is concerned. Tonight the All-Stars go to Whittier to play and decidedly must win the contest—or else.

Santa Ana has four more games to play. After tonight the Stars meet Huntington Beach at Huntington Beach, San Bernardino and Anaheim here. The Stars are in fourth place, two games ahead of Irvine. Doc Smith's boys must remain in fourth place to get into the Shaughnessy playoffs.

After tonight's game the Stars run up against the three leading teams before the close of the regular playing season. That's a pretty tough assignment what with Irvine meeting Orange, Brea and Whittier after their struggle with Huntington Beach tonight.

However, Santa Ana has been playing better ball the last two weeks than it has all season and Doc's players are all hopped up to maintain the lead they now hold over Irvine and it's a safe bet that the remaining games of the season will be hot stuff.

Jacobsmeier, who has been pitching sweet ball all season will be on the mound for the Stars tonight while Burch probably will hurl for Whittier.

Tonight's lineup:

Santa Ana— Richardson, rf; Short, cf; Smith, ss; J. Koral, 2b; Arrambide, 3b; M. Koral, c; Angelo, ss; Jacobsmeier, p; Young, 3b; Denney, lf.

Whittier— Davis, cf; Porter, cf; Coats, c; Arrambide, 3b; Angelo, ss; Johns, 2b; Jacobsmeier, p; Hanlon, 1b; Burch, p.

U. S. TRACK STARS OFF FOR GLASGOW

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(UP)—The American track and field team, winner in seven out of 14 events in Great Britain's "miniature Olympics," departed today for an engagement in Glasgow, Scotland.

Robert Anson Bruce, manager of the U. S. athletes, was delighted with their showing against more than 90 stars from 17 nations in the annual international games at White City yesterday.

The best performance was Parlin Walker's victories in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Alan Tolmich, Wayne university, scored an upset in the 120 yard high hurdle, defeating England's Don Finlay, who set a new native record only last week. Jack Patterson of Rice institute set a new British record of 53 seconds in the 440 yard low hurdles. Other American winners were Charley Fenske, Wisconsin, one mile run; Mel Walker, Toledo, O., high jump; and Cornelius Warmerdam, San Francisco, pole vault.

FAVORITES LEAD IN JUNIOR TENNIS MEET

CULVER, Ind., Aug. 2.—(UP)—Pre-tournament favorites led the way into the second round of the national junior tennis tournament today.

Victor Seizais, Philadelphia, seeded first in the boys' division, defeated Lawrence Daly, Evanston, Ill., 6-1, 6-1 in a first round match yesterday. Gardner Larnet, Chicago, seeded No. 7, defeated Harvey Bradley, Indianapolis, 6-2, 6-2. Marshall Chambers, Cincinnati, No. 5, defeated Tom Byrd, Shelbyville, Ky., 6-0, 6-2. Other seeded players drew byes for the first round. Several of the other matches were postponed because of wet grounds.

Welby Van Horn, Los Angeles, top ranking junior star, won by default from Don Buffington, Scarborough, N. Y.

H. B. LAUNCHES NEW IMPROVEMENT CAMPAIGN

PLAN TO BUY 49-ACRE SITE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 2.—The city council last night approved a check for $84,842.50 as payment for 1630 feet of beach frontage and immediately voted to proceed with negotiations for the purchase of a 49-acre tract across Coast highway from the beach frontage.

Seek Federal Funds
Plans were started toward securing PWA or WPA help in making improvements on the beach frontage, to construct a subway under Coast highway, to build a new fire station and to extend the Thirteenth street drain to Clay street.

Option Expires
Residents also voted favoring the purchase of 49 acres across Coast highway from the beach playgrounds to be used for additional playgrounds and park. The cost was set at $25,000. The option expired August 1, so city officials in discussing the matter decided to try to secure a way of spreading out the payments instead of paying $5000 now and $20,000 in October. Mayor McCallen appointed Councilmen Chammes, Talbert, Morehouse and Hendrickson to contact Hanson Moore, president of the Mills Land & Water company, regarding the proposed plan.

Subway Proposed
Under the proposed plan the subway would be built at Main street and Coast highway. According to earlier investigation a new fire station is needed for the accommodation of firemen and equipment. It is proposed by the city council to extend the Thirteenth street drain to Brunton park at Delaware, Ulica and Yorktown avenues for the purpose of draining the east side of the city in time of heavy rains or flood.

County Announces Appointments

George Wood, of Villa Park, today was appointed by the county supervisors as a director of the Carpenter Irrigation district, to serve out the unexpired term of the late Loren W. Evans. The term extends to March 1, 1941. The district is part owner of Santiago dam.

Resignation of Dan Patrick, head janitor at the courthouse, is accepted by the board today. Patrick will depart tomorrow on a vacation visit of two months at his boyhood home in Nova Scotia. Galbraith succeeds him as head janitor.

The board today accepted an invitation from Capt. Budd of the El Toro CCC camp, to have dinner at the camp this evening. All except Supervisor Mitchell indicated plans to attend.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Maxie S. Houston and two brothers, J. D. Houston and J. E. Houston, and 18 nephews and nieces.

Christian Science services will read at 2 p. m. Wednesday from the McAulay and Suters funeral home.

FULLERTON READY TO BUILD NEW LIBRARY AND CITY HALL

FULLERTON, Aug. 2.—A building program costing $174,000 will be started here immediately if the plans of the planning commission, library board and the city council carry. The planning commission yesterday authorized the library board to proceed with plans for the new building.

Harry Vaughan, architect, is to present plans for the new library addition to PWA authorities tomorrow. The new building will cost $74,000. It is planned to purchase property belonging to W. H. Skillman, adjoining the present site on the north.

Councilmen last night authorized Architect Stanley Wilson to present the plans for the new city hall, to be located in the 200 block on West Commonwealth, to WPA authorities tomorrow. This location was purchased recently by the council, and the program for the new city hall has approval of the planning commission, which is headed by Erwin Chapman and includes Mrs. R. A. Marsden, W. A. Mills, Jack McCarthy, Fred West, Henry Burdick, with Ray Thompson, councilman, Herman Hiltcher, city engineer, and T. K. Gowen, mayor, members ex-officio.

In addition to this program, buildings are being moved from the East Commonwealth site for construction of the new federal post office building.

Visitors Honored At Balboa Affair

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 2.—One hundred guests were invited to a tea by Mrs. Harold Stahl, of Balboa, the affair complimenting her sisters, Mrs. Byron D. Osborne, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. R. S. Castle, of Berkeley, and her mother, Mrs. Addie Haugh, who is at her Balboa summer home.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Haugh in blue lace, Mrs. Osborne and Mrs. Stahl in white lace and Mrs. Castle, who was in print chiffon. The quartet wore wrist corsages of summer flowers as did other assisting at the function.

Pouring were Mrs. Gladys Terrell, of Los Angeles, and Miss Lena Thomas, of Santa Ana, while Mrs. Hazel Northness, of Santa Ana, Mrs. V. E. Grace, Mrs. C. M. Deakins and Mrs. Evan Jones, all of Balboa, acted as assistant hostesses.

JOINS SPECIAL POLICE

Leo Haley, 1817 West Washington, was made a special police officer by city council last night, to serve without pay. He is an employee of Gilbert Wagner, merchant patrol operator.

CITY PONDERES ZONE CHANGES

Three plans for changing zones in Santa Ana made little progress at hearing before city council and city planning commissioners.

Atty. Charles Swanner, representing Jay Brooks, appeared with Brooks and others before the council. After lengthy discussion, council adopted a resolution at Swanner's request, approving maps for the abandonment of Willits street between Ralits street and Plaza rancho, a portion of Willits street never opened for use although dedicated for street purposes. A resolution of intention to abandon the street section also was adopted but meanwhile further consideration will be given protests. Brooks wants the street for acreage.

The city attorney has questioned the desirability of abandoning the street, dedicated 20 or 30 years ago "since sometime it might be necessary to have a street extension there." Swanner suggested the right-of-way then, could be obtained through condemnation proceedings.

Action of council on application of John A. Jiles for a special use zone at the northeast corner of Kilson and Beverly so he can erect a duplex was tabled two weeks after Jules Markel protested. He said some of the women who signed the 41-name petition favoring the duplex "didn't realize what they were doing." Albert C. Markel asked that his wife's name be withdrawn from the petition. A survey of the area was ordered made. Jules Markel said a duplex zone would be an "entering wedge" to spoil the fine single family residential area.

Request for permission to build a Baptist church on the southeast corner of Walnut and Sycamore met with several oral and 69 written protests, it was revealed. The request was tabled two more weeks and the city engineer asked to check protests.

Hatle Wins First Legal Skirmish

Oscar Hatle won the first skirmish with the prosecution today at his jury trial on a charge of felony drunk driving. When Judge G. K. Scofield ruled that the boulevard sign which he was alleged to have ignored at the time of the alleged offense, was illegally placed. That ruling left Deputy District Attorney Robert Gardner facing the necessity of producing some other traffic violation to couple with the claim of intoxication, since such a combination is said to be necessary to support a charge of felony drunk driving.

Attorneys started selecting the jury after Judge Scofield gave his ruling. The charge against Hatle is based upon a collision between his car and that of Bernard H. Patterson, at Newport boulevard and Coast highway last May 30. Patterson, Joyce Buzan, Edith Graham, George Christian and Elmore Halum were injured.

County Checks On Insurance Pact

The county today prepared to advertise for its annual insurance contract. Purchasing Agent Eugene Fenelon being authorized by the supervisors to obtain bids. It was decided to increase the coverage for property damage from $5000 to $10,000, the cost being estimated at about $70 per year more.

When the board received a copy of a Riverside county resolution, urging the federal government to notify residents of other states that there is no relief money for them in California and they will be looked after in their home states, Chairman Willard Smith favored the idea of passing a similar resolution here. But Supervisors West and Mitchell thought it would be futile. No action was taken.

PROTESTS APPLAUSE
Complaint of Nora L. Elliott, manager of the Edgar Hotel, to city council last night, that applause of patrons at the Princess theater, East Fourth street, near Spurgeon, has been disturbing her customers late at night, was referred to the police commissioner for investigation and report.

COUNTY TO BUY $5,766 TRUCK

Purchase by the county supervisors of a Mack truck for $5766, when a Reo truck was offered on a bid of $5598, was voted today over the protest of Supervisor Steele Finley, of Santa Ana, who voted "no." The Mack truck was purchased from the Orange firm of Cruzen and Smith, Cruzen now being a candidate for county auditor.

"It doesn't smell good to me," said Finley, when Supervisor N. E. West, of Laguna Beach, made the motion to purchase the higher-priced truck, which will be used by the road department.

Beard Makes Request
Supervisor Harry Riley, of Anaheim, also objected at first on the ground that the Orange firm lacked parts for replacement. These should be available for immediate delivery, said Riley.

Superintendent Arthur Beard, of the road department, requested purchase of the Mack truck. The department already has four Reos, he said. At the final vote, Riley supported the motion, but Finley stood his ground.

The supervisors today authorized Clerk B. J. Smith to advertise for the purchase of pipe needed for the road department.

Hurd Inquest To Be Held Today

Inquest for J. W. Hurd, 80, 223 Huntington Beach boulevard, Midway City, who died yesterday at St. Joseph hospital from injuries received Saturday evening in a traffic mishap, will be held late today at Dixon Funeral chapel, Huntington Beach, Coroner Earl Abbey announced.

Hurd was walking across Huntington Beach boulevard near his home en route to a grocery store when a car operated by Louis Kridelbaugh, 38, Pico, struck him down. His death is the 35th in Orange county traffic this year.

Boulevards Are Designated by Law

An ordinance declaring certain highways of the county to be boulevards and ordering boulevard stop signs located at a dozen more intersections in the county, where traffic increases create a hazard, was passed by the county supervisors today.

The board also had under advisement three bids for about $3000 worth of road surfacing on Harbor boulevard, Wintersburg avenue, Los Patos avenue, Smeitz avenue, Buena Vista avenue, Eighth street (Buena Park), Seventeenth street and Walker street.

REJECTS PROPERTY OFFER

Fred Deardorff's proposal to sell a parcel of his property in the southeast part of the city to city council last night for water well purposes was rejected unanimously. He said he owns lots at 1615 foot parcel at a 60-foot by 100-foot parcel at a water well site. "We've already had to take some property in that area for delinquent taxes," Councilman William Penn said. Council ordered the offer acknowledged, then filed.

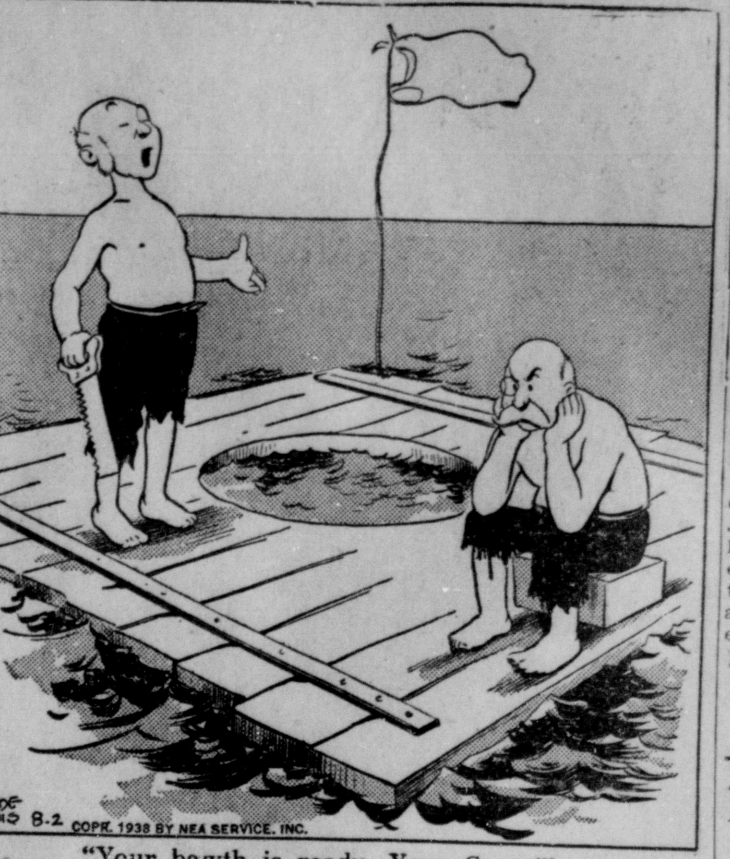

COURT NOTES

Mrs. Ruby Massey today filed suit in superior court against her mother, Mrs. T. R. Pierce, to obtain custody of Mrs. Massey's two minor children by a former marriage, Deuber Lance and Ruth Helen Lance. A Bryan county, of the children to their grandmother July 10, 1935. Mrs. Massey's petition for custody states that she is now able to support them.

The late Roy E. Vincent, Laguna Beach financier, left an estate of "more than $10,000" according to a petition for letters of administration, just filed in superior court by his widow, Mrs. L. Ethel Vincent. The petition states that the estate consists of stocks and other personal property. The widow and two sons, Ronald, 23, and Robert Leroy, 13, both of Laguna Beach, are named as legal heirs.

LEGION GROUPS TO PRESENT PROGRAM AT BEACH FESTIVAL

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 2.—Marking the halfway point in the current Festival of Arts, tonight's program will be the American Legion occasion, characterized by special offerings. The Santa Ana Drum and Bugle corps, in full regalia and headed by Bert Ruth, will provide high spot of the evening.

Assisting Legionnaire Ruth, who is director and drum instructor, will be James Sun, bugle instructor, and Glenn Cave, drum major of the Santa Ana contingent. Laguna Beach post 232 will turn out in force, and delegations, will also be present from other parts in Orange county, and adjacent territory. The American Legion auxiliary quartet will present a group of songs, the vocalists including Zara Kyle, Josephine Lykke, LaVerne Van Wyk and Zola Maag, with Ruth Armstrong as director and accompanist.

Last night's performance was attended by another capacity crowd, bringing up the attendance, to date, to an all time high in the six years of the Festival. The Putnam dancers; Barbara Wilder, in a song of offering, accompanied by Mary Silver; Martha Shaw, danseuse, presenting "Lady Picking Mulberries" and other numbers, received generous applause. The showing of the Pageant of the Masters, recreating famous masterpieces of brush and chisel, was warmly received, its culminating point being the "Last Supper" tableau, which has been shown for several years under direction of Roy M. Ropp.

County Defers Action On Club For Scouts

A proposal by Supervisor Harry D. Riley that the county accept the gift of property from Buena Park citizens, to be used as a clubhouse for the Boy Scout and Girl Scout organizations of that community, was tabled by the board of supervisors today after legality of the step was questioned, and the issue of policy also was raised.

Riley reported that the property would be purchased by private subscription and presented to the county, to be held in trust for the Scout organizations. A written opinion from Assistant District Attorney Preston Turner cited the law permitting acceptance of such a gift to be held in trust "for public purposes."

Supervisor West questioned whether Scout organizations would fall within the "public purpose" rating. They are only quasi-public in character, he maintained. "I'd like to help them, I'm a Boy Scout myself," said West, grinning. "But I doubt that we could do it legally."

Supervisor John Mitchell frowned on the move as "opening the door to tax exemptions for organizations."

County To Get $65,017 In Fees

Orange county will receive a net allocation of $65,017.55 from motor vehicle fees collected by the state for the quarter between April 1 and June 30, according to notice received today from the state by the county supervisors. The total allocation was $93,179.04 but the state deducted $18,161.44 as repayment of the county's $815,000 unemployment relief loan of 1933 from the state. The state reported that there are 57,698 motor vehicles registered in Orange county, about one to each 21-2 persons.

"Marry Anyway"—Theme of Satire Heard By Club

Efforts of President Franklin D. Roosevelt to balance the country's budget so a young New York couple could marry were told in a humorous play entitled "I'd Rather Be President" that was reviewed by Mrs. Mona Summers Smith, assistant librarian of the Santa Ana public library, at the regular meeting of the Santa Ana Rotary club today.

Many suggestions in the satire by Moss Hart and George Kaufman were tried out, including the establishment of a government pick-pocket but as the play closed, Roosevelt was forced to admit his inability to balance the budget and advised the young couple to get married anyway.

Bruce Buell, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Lester Buell, sang several solos. Nelson Beisel was program chairman.

Pall of Death Where Plunging Plane Killed 53

An army flyer, stunting at a military field dedication in Bogota, Colombia, grazed the reviewing stand of the diplomatic corps with his low flying plane. That threw him into the stand occupied by Colombia's picture above was taken just as flaming gasoline was thrown over the jammed crowds and the whirling propellers bit into the mass of screaming people. Some of them can be seen fleeing. Fifty-three were killed, and more than 100 were injured. President Lopez escaped unscathed.

Man "Exiled" By Court Sentence

Emil Matejak, transient, who first pleaded not guilty on a vagrancy charge, then guilty, was given a six-months' suspended county jail term yesterday by Justice Kenneth Morrison after agreeing to leave and stay out of Orange county in the future. Matejak was arrested after witnesses reported seeing him take keys out of motor vehicles belonging to the Anton Borchards, now recovering from injuries received in a fatal bus accident while sight-seeing in Germany on a vacation trip.

Asked why he had taken the keys, Matejak stated he removed them to prevent theft of the vehicles. He must remain out of the county at least two years, the judge decided on the probation order.

CONTENTION MAKES DIFFERENCE OF $189

George Avas, local cocktail bar proprietor, won and lost yesterday in his suit for damages against the Auto Indemnity Club of Orange county when Justice K. E. Morrison gave judgment.

Avas sued the club for $200.15, claiming he had stopped at El Sombrero night club on 101 highway at Manchester boulevard, several weeks ago, on a business visit when an unidentified motorist collided with his new car. Avas declared the car was parked when the damage was done and he didn't notice that the oil had leaked out but drove towards home for several miles when the engine "froze" and resulted in the greater damage. The auto club claimed the damage, when the oil tank was punctured, amounted to only $11.25. Judge Morrison granted Avas judgment for $11.25.

On his first flight Orville Wright flew at a maximum speed of 31 miles an hour.

27 IN HOSPITAL AFTER RIOTS IN HAWAII; QUIZ IS OPENED

HILO, T. H., Aug. 2.—(UP)—Twenty-seven persons of the 50 injured in rioting on the docks of the Interisland Navigation Company were confined in hospitals here today, as an official investigation under the direction of Territorial Attorney General Joseph Hodgson was ordered.

Among the hospitalized victims were three women. They were Mrs. Ana Kamahele and Mrs. Helen Hapeshi, both shot in the legs and body, and Mrs. Helen Mataahi, severely cut and bruised.

Use Bayonets

In the fighting, which occurred yesterday when a non-union crew began to unload the company's steamer Waiialeale, police used bayonets, birdshot and tear gas to drive back 500 demonstrators. Scams and dock workers of the company are on strike in a dispute over wages and hours.

The riot was the second on the docks since the Inland Boatmen's Union called the strike. Members of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union have refused to handle cargo from the company's ships.

Among the most seriously wounded was Bert Nakan, secretary of the I.L.W.U., who was bayoneted and shot.

MOVE TO PREVENT FURTHER RIOTS

HONOLULU, Aug. 2.—(UP)—Police took extra precautions here today at the docks of the Interisland Navigation Company, where the steamer Waiialeale was to arrive, to prevent a recurrence of rioting which yesterday occurred when the vessel stopped at Hilo.

The fighting, in which police used bayonets, birdshot and tear gas to drive back the demonstrators, has caused high feeling among union workers throughout the territory. Several mass meetings have been held. Gov. J. B. Poindexter was asked to take some action in regard to the trouble, but did not reply to the request.

The Waiialeale sailed for Honolulu with 150 passengers and a freight cargo loaded by a non-union crew. However, trouble was not anticipated here as the company's docks are surrounded by a steel mesh fence, which will be patrolled by police when the vessel docks.

The weight and length of the new super-ships being built require stronger beaching gear. The Boeing 74-passenger Clipper uses a beaching gear weighing 15 tons, and has eight wheels for use on the ramps.

ARMY METHODS ARE EXPLAINED

MONTEREY, Aug. 2.—"We do not expect experienced soldiers to emerge from the brief four weeks training in the Citizen's Military Training Corps," said Colonel Homer M. Groninger, 11th Cavalry, Commander at Camp John P. Pryor, Presidio of Monterey, California, at which spot the CMTC is completing its intensive service with reviews, athletic contests and a Gymkhana.

"Months or years are necessary in the successful education of a regular army soldier," the Colonel continued. "We are happy if we can teach these young men the fundamentals of army procedure, of which three phases have been emphasized in our outline of training here at the Presidio of Monterey."

Close Order Drill "The initial phase," said Colonel Groninger, "consists of just enough basic close order drill to settle the candidate into army life. This is followed by the second, and most important phase, that of range practice. On other words, learning how to handle the soldier's best friend, the 30 calibre army rifle."

"Finally, and this is the experience that would prove most valuable in case of need, is the training in the field. We have had, and will continue to have overnight marches, bivouacs and combat maneuvers which bring forth the greatest sources of experience and initiative on the part of the soldiers and officers," the commander concluded.

Colonel Groninger announced that following out the above procedure, the first battalion of infantry would make its practice march on Friday, at 1 p. m. and the second battalion on Monday.

The letter boxes of San Antonio, Tex., contained hundreds of unstamped letters, which puzzled the postal authorities until they found that the stamps had been eaten off by ants attracted by the gum.

'PEG-LEG' SEEN AS BAD ACTOR

BERKELEY, Aug. 2.—Beware the "peg-leg" coyote!

The "peg-leg" coyote is one that has lost all or the greater part of one foot as the result of improperly set traps. He has become so numerous that he is now given his own classification "peg-leg" by science.

According to a paper contributed to the annual meeting of the American Society of Mammalogists by Charles G. Sperry of the United States Biological Survey, the "peg-leg" goes after domestic livestock rather than the fleet footed wildlings, because his deformity will not permit him to travel as fast as his sounder fellows.

Livestock Item A comparison of the food habits of both the "peg-leg" and other coyotes shows that he gets fewer rabbits and rodents than his presumably more fortunate fellows. Otherwise the diet seems to be about the same in proportions and variety, with the exception of the domestic livestock item.

SERIAL STORY MYSTERY AT THE LAZY R BY CLARKE NEWLON

COPYRIGHT, 1938
NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
NIKKI JEROME, heroine; blond, popular, is engaged to six-foot, black-haired STEVE MALLORY, hero; who is accompanying her on a trip to Nikki's aunt and uncle on a Wyoming dude ranch. Nikki's father, PETER JEROME, is a wealthy New York jewel merchant.

Yesterday: Nikki and Steve see Sarto in the valley and then they recall the shot they had heard earlier.

CHAPTER XI

THEY waited, hidden on the hilltop, and watched the man below as he picked his way across the valley and started to climb the mountain opposite them.

"We can't be very far from camp," reasoned Steve. "Sarto wouldn't take a chance on getting back to the camp alone if he wasn't very sure he could find his way."

"We can follow him," said Nikki.

"As long as we keep him in sight," said Steve. "But I don't think much following will be necessary. I have a feeling we won't have to go farther than over that hill."

They waited a moment until they were hidden from Sarto's view by his own progress, and then they began their descent into the valley. Steve led the way to the spot where they had first seen him.

There was a sharp declivity into a short ravine that had been gouged out by some prehistoric glacier. Sheltered by the brush, it wasn't visible from the hilltop, and they were almost upon it before they saw it. It's rocky course ran possibly 50 yards.

"Nikki," said Steve as they approached the edge. "It's barely possible our friend Sarto might come back. Suppose you wait behind this clump of bushes and keep watch while I explore this ravine. Maybe we can find out what he was doing here."

Nikki waited, feeling that Steve was much more afraid of what he might find in that ravine than of Sarto's return.

Steve walked cautiously down the incline, his eyes searching the surface of the depression below him. As he reached the bottom he turned to his right and followed the ravine to that end but found nothing. It was scarcely ten feet across at the bottom, irregularly rocky and pitted where rains had dipped into formations softer than the rest.

He turned and started for the other end of the gully. He stepped on a dead limb and the sharp crackle startled him. A buzzard circled slowly overhead, wheeled in the cloudless sky and was joined by two of his black fellows. The sun glinted brightly on something ahead and the sharp reflection caught Steve's eye.

He stepped around a thornlimbed bush and stopped abruptly as he came upon the body of Wade Bancroft.

HE was lying face downward, his arms flung forward, one almost a pillow for his head. His legs were twisted oddly under him, as though he had made a supreme effort to turn when the bullet had struck him—in the back.

After the first shock of surprise, Steve examined the still form carefully. Bancroft had evidently died almost instantly. The bullet had struck him in the left side of the back and if it had not penetrated the heart, it must have been very close. Steve decided. There was no sign of a struggle and the rocks left no story that he could read, but it didn't seem to Steve that much deduction was necessary.

"But why Bancroft?" he thought, and then his instincts told him to waste no more time there. His eye caught the shadow of the impatient vultures sailing with the wind currents overhead, and he stripped off his own jacket to cover Bancroft's head and shoulders, weighing the edges down with rocks. The he hurriedly cut brush and made a rude shelter that he thought would last for several hours.

Nikki greeted him with obvious relief and questions unspoken. "Bancroft," he said briefly. "Shot through the back."

Nikki gasped. She had been prepared for other things but hardly that. "Bancroft," she repeated. "But Steve, why?" Steve shook his head. "Don't know. I was afraid it would be Fiske," Nikki nodded. The same fear had possessed her, but now a companioning dread drove out every other emotion, every other thought. What had happened while they were away? Oh, she was such a fool. Why had she done it?

"Steve," she said. Her mouth was dry. Words were hard to form. "Uncle Jim and Rance—" Her eyes were questions enough. Steve shook his head. "I don't know. But I wouldn't worry about them yet. They're not babes in the wood."

DEAR God. And she had let them all come on this trip without a warning. Bancroft was dead. The shock of that discovery almost made her forget his men-circled slowly overhead, wheeled in the cloudless sky and was joined by two of his black fellows. The sun glinted brightly on some-ous undertone. Sarto the bodyguard. Bodyguard. Her own thoughts startled her. Of course. "Steve," she cried. "That money must be locked in the cabin at the ranch."

"Men have been murdered for less," he said. "That's why we'd better get back to the camp." What might happen to anyone trying to stop Sarto, Steve didn't like to think, let alone mention it to Nikki, but she was thinking too.

"Won't he try to get back to the ranch and get away with that money?"

"I expect so," Steve was sure of it. Sarto had killed one man. And that "accident" on the trail, Steve was sure now, wasn't an accident. Even to an inexperienced horseman like Sarto, it must have been obvious that a sharp kick would send his horse surging forward and that gravity would do the rest.

"Steve, let's be careful." "We will be," he glanced at her reassuringly.

THEY were walking on now, following the unmarked path that Sarto had taken to the top of the hill. It was still early. Nikki wondered what time yesterday Woody had reached camp with word of the landslide. He couldn't have known for sure that they were safe and had not been buried under the slide. She knew they would start searching immediately. Uncle Jim and Rance must be nearly crazy, she thought.

They reached the top of the hill and the camp spread out below them, an eighth of a mile away. Smoke arose from the fire in front of the cabin, but there was no sign of life.

"Sarto is there somewhere," said Steve. "We'd better circle a little and come up from the left. There's more cover that way." They made their way down the hillside and toward the camp, picking their path carefully and trying to keep the trees and brush between them and the clearing, but there were many open spaces where there was no cover. Still there was no sign of life. The camp looked deserted.

Then as they came cautiously from the last fringe of trees, Sarto stepped from behind the cabin. His right hand held a stubby, wicked automatic.

"I thought you'd be coming along," he said. "Move on over near the fire. Don't try any funny business. We're playing right up my alley now."

He patted the pistol.

"This is a baby I know something about. I don't miss with it."

Jimmie Fidler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, August 2.—After an "important" preview at the Chinese, I like to follow the movie crowd to the nearby Cinegrill and listen to random bits of the conversation which ensues. Its general features are always the same and the "slants" on the picture previewed are as variegated as the professions of the people discussing it. The dialogue goes something like this:

Glamour gal: "...and did you see that dress she wore in the third reel...why any woman with a build like she has would choose a style like that..."

Comedian: "...say, listen, I was using every one of those gags before that guy ever saw a movie set..."

Old Dramatic actor: "...no, there aren't any great artists any more...they haven't got it HERE (placing hand on heart)...I tell you, you've got to have it HERE! In my day..."

Cameraman: "...Fair work...but where's the trick angles?..."

Director: "...Fair work...but there was something wrong with the timing...old-fashioned, that's what it was...let me tell you about 'Love's Polly' that I'm working on..."

Producer: "...I hope the public goes for that big train wreck...we've got a million tied up there and the bankers are getting—well I hope they like that train wreck..."

WPA OFFICIALS BLAME 'GRIEF' ON 'DISGRUNTLED 'A' WORKERS'

Less than one per cent of WPA workers in Orange county is responsible for the continued complaints to Los Angeles officials of unfair discrimination against Orange county workers, G. I. Farnum, director of operations for WPA in Southern California, told The Register in an informal interview yesterday.

Farnum appeared with his assistant, J. Frank Johnson and Robert J. Stevens, director of employment, at a noon luncheon at the Home cafeteria at which a state relief project to employ approximately 500 Class B workers was announced. The project now is in the hands of officials in Washington and approval expected soon, Farnum said.

YEAR'S JOB IS PLANNED AHEAD

The joint outfall engineering committee recommendation that $112,500 be budgeted for expenditure from July 1, 1938, to July 1, 1939, in completing Section 1 of the outfall, was submitted to Santa Ana city council by City Engineer J. L. McBride at council meeting last night.

The recommendation was signed by all members of the engineering committee representing the joint outfall, including McBride, E. P. Hagood, Anaheim; C. C. Bonebrake, Orange; J. B. Sanks, La Habra, and Grover L. Walters, Fullerton.

Includes 'All Details'

The report, which was taken under advisement by Santa Ana councilmen and which must be approved by other member cities, outlined cost of work performed to date on Section 1 and provided recommendation for type of construction to be used in completing the section from the old screening plant site to the pumping plant at the beach.

The engineers pointed out that request has been made to the state for $30,000 to cover building of temporary settling basins near the old screening plant site ruined by the March 3 flood and that the state also has been asked to furnish $50,000 for a permanent pumping plant.

Near Old Plant

Type "A" construction was recommended among other things because it "requires maximum federal labor (WPA) costs and minimum sponsor (joint outfall district) material costs, than any other type of new construction."

The type "A" construction is being built for 3,000 feet, from a location near the old screening plant site to a point approximately 4,400 feet from the ocean. From a point near the ocean, a 3,500-foot length of the line has been completely made ready through repair, provision of a concrete cover over acid-proof vitrified clay liners.

40,992 TREES IN COUNTY ARE INSPECTED FOR NEW DISEASES

During a survey recently completed in Orange county by the county agricultural department and the U. S. department of agriculture, two inspectors from each department inspected 40,992 trees located upon 12,424 separate properties, to detect possible inroads of new agricultural pests or diseases.

This, said a statement today by D. W. Tubbs, agricultural commissioner, is part of the constant vigil maintained against new crop enemies. Such surveys during the past several years have included inspection for citrus white fly, European white snail, alfalfa weevil, citrus but mite, Australian vegetable weevil, and such diseases as oak root fungus, ozonium root rot, solerotomy rot, tomato canker and others.

"Eradication," said Tubbs today, "is difficult because it entails rigid annual inspection and destruction of all infected trees; also quarantine regulations are passed to prevent movement of plants carrying the disease from known areas of infestation. The commodities include species, including the flowering forms, of peach, nectarine, apricot, almond, plum or prunes, or parts thereof capable of propagation, except fruit pits."

A large amount of the flowering trees were found in the county during the recent survey, but no evidence of disease was found, and in only two instances did the suspicious appearance of trees indicate desirability of further test, said Tubbs.

L. A. MAN CHOOSES JAIL TO $40 FINE

Frank Stillwell, 60, Los Angeles, thinks going to jail the lesser of two evils when the second choice is paying $40 for speeding, he indicated late yesterday.

He decided that after Justice Kenneth Morrison found him guilty of speeding 65 miles per hour in the 45-mile zone of Coast highway at Corona Del Mar several weeks ago. The judge ordered Stillwell to pay a $40 fine at the rate of $5 per month or go to jail for five days in spite of the fact that Stillwell pleaded not guilty.

Wedding Plans Disclosed For Prominent Pair

Application for a marriage license made today by Mrs. Mabel E. Trago, 215 Cypress avenue, and Everett T. Mateer, 210 Orange avenue, conveyed to all but intimate family friends, their first information regarding wedding plans of this prominent Santa Ana couple.

While news of the wedding may come as a surprise to the majority of their friends, it was no surprise to the two family groups, who will find a bond of friendship existing over many years, developed into even stronger bonds. The Mateers and Tragos have been friends of long standing, and several years ago when Mrs. Trago's daughter, Miss Kathleen Trago, became the bride of Paul Wallace, her bridesmaids included Mr. Mateer's daughter, Miss Alice Mateer, now Mrs. Minor Cox.

Everett T. Mateer was for many years the proprietor of one of the city's principal drugstores. He left the drug business several years ago for insurance, and is now identified with Bankers' Life, prominent in Masonry and in Kiwanis club, among other interests. He will find the same activity on the part of Mrs. Trago, who long served as treasurer of Comus club, and shared with her late husband, the former county treasurer, E. B. Trago, his Masonic interests. During the past year, Mrs. Trago has been associated with Mrs. Thomas Prather, field manager for the Merle Norman Cosmetics company. She is the daughter of F. P. Nickey, 519 Bush street, who retired a few years ago after a lifetime as one of the city's leading merchants.

Cablegram Brings News Of Arrival in Paris

Miss Catherine Chapman, 2932 North Main street, and her aunt and cousin, Mrs. Florence Chapman and Miss Florence Wakeham of La Jolla, are having a delightful time touring Paris as a feature of their European trip, it was learned today.

Received yesterday morning by Miss Catherine Chapman's aunt, the George Chapman, of the North Main street address, was a cablegram telling of the arrival of the trio of travelers in Paris. They expect to spend some time there before going to London, which has been their headquarters during their vacation travels in Europe.

The Santa Anas and the La Jolla residents sailed June 24 for Europe, where they have traveled through Scotland, Germany, Belgium, Switzerland and other countries during the past several weeks. They expect to sail August 12 on the S. S. George Washington for the homeward voyage. Stopping at New York City, Washington, D. C., Chicago and other cities on the cross country trip, they plan to arrive in the Southland late in August or early in September.

Birthday Anniversary Occasions Party

Planned by a group of her friends was a birthday surprise party for Saturday evening, complimenting Mrs. Claude Adams, and staged in her home at Irvine.

Guests had planned the evening program of canteen and for serving refreshments as climax to the game, when Mrs. H. C. Hurley and Miss Myrtle Adams took charge. The home was decorated with flowers brought by the guests, including giant zinnias from the gardens of Mrs. George Cook.

Taking high prizes in the evening's games were Mrs. Harmon Van Keirsbeck and Hugh LeBar, while consolation prizes were awarded Mrs. O. A. Daugherty and Vernon Bassham.

Mrs. Adams was presented with birthday gifts by the guests who included with her husband and daughter, Claude Adams and Miss Myrtle Adams, Mrs. Maggie Huntley, Messrs. and Mesdames George Cook, O. A. Daugherty, Vernon Bassham and children, of Irvine; Mrs. Katherine Bassham, Mrs. Paul

Santa Anas Numbered Among Guests At Pre-Bridal Parties

One of the pretty social affairs of late the past week which occurred in Fullerton but was of special interest in this city, was a trousseau tea which the Misses Laura and Helen Porter gave in their Orangechester avenue home in compliment to their niece, Miss Bertie Caldwell.

Invitations are out for the marriage on Saturday, August 6, of Miss Caldwell and Charles Smith, a young banker of El Centro. The tea in honor of the bride-elect, gave her relatives and a number of close friends, opportunity to extend their good wishes and to see the dainty things she is assembling for her trousseau. Among guests in attendance were Mrs. Tarver Montgomery, Mrs. Clarence Nisson, Mrs. Joseph P. Thompson, Miss Gertrude Montgomery and Miss Louise Montgomery of this city.

The young bride-elect taught in Imperial Valley schools, has spent the winter and spring months with her grandparents and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Porter and the Misses Helen and Laura Porter in Fullerton.

Many parties have complimented her since announcement was made of her wedding plans. One of these was a tea at which Mrs. R. L. Coons of Liberty Lane, Anaheim, and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Seward, were hosts. Santa Anas on the guest list were Messrs. and Mesdames B. E. Tarver, Tevis Westgate, Tarver Montgomery, Clarence A. Nisson, Mrs. Joseph P. Thompson with her daughter and son, Suzanne and Joe Thompson Jr., here from Waco, Texas, for the summer, and the Misses Gertrude and Louise Montgomery. Several of these relatives were among guests at a miscellaneous at a miscellaneous show of recent date at which Miss Caldwell's aunts, Mrs. C. E. Beckett of Compton, and Mrs. Otis of Long Beach were hostesses.

Intimate Group Has Picnic at Park

During Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Flaherty's extended stay in Oregon, their daughters, the Misses Dorothy, Patricia and Josephine, have been feted at various informal affairs which have made their stay at home quite enjoyable. The Harold Wahlbergs planned one of these intimate events Saturday night.

Santiago park was scene of the festivity, which of course included the serving of an inviting picnic dinner. In the group with the Misses Flaherty were Mr. and Mrs. Wahlberg and daughter and sons, Marjorie, Brent and Robert, with their houseguest, Miss Janet Hooper, who is here from the north, and Miss Ruth De Gunther. Mr. and Mrs. Flaherty and their daughter Betty, are expected home Wednesday from Oregon, where Mr. Flaherty has been on a business trip in his capacity as organizational director of the eleven western states for the Federal Farm Bureau. Their son and brother, Dave Flaherty, who has been visiting with relatives at Bend, Ore., may return home this week. If he should decide to extend his vacation, he will be back in Santa Ana early in the fall.

GRIFFITHS RETURN

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Griffith of Everett, Ill., who have been visiting with Mr. Griffith's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Griffith, 209 Highland street, for the past several weeks, plan to leave Wednesday for their home.

Accompanying the travelers home will be Mr. Griffith's sister, Mrs. Josephine Hawkins of Long Beach, who will spend some time in the east, and Edward Welch of Connersville, Ind., who has been visiting in Hollywood.

They will stop in San Francisco, where Mrs. Virgil Griffith will attend the W. C. T. U. convention, Yellowstone National park and other scenic points will be included on the itinerary.

Social Events Outlined For Club Members

Santa Ana Country club's cloak of gaiety for the month of August will be of informal pattern, with the usual round of parties marking a calendar of events which will open Sunday evening with a weekly buffet supper.

Plans for events highlighting this midsummer time at the Country club were outlined last night when directors' wives held their monthly session in the home of the general social chairman, Mrs. A. G. Flagg, 1320 North Broadway. That afternoon brought a special meeting at which arrangements were made to complete the clubhouse refurbishing.

Discussions of these interesting plans were Mrs. Flagg, Mrs. Richard Emison and Mrs. Hugh Lowe of the decorating committee.

Sunday night suppers, with their host couples, have been set as follows: August 7, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Dunstan and Mr. and Mrs. Dana Washburn; August 14, Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Price and Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Flagg; August 21, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rapp and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Reinhaus; August 28, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith and Mrs. Richard Emison.

Announcement was made that no guest changes will be made for the evening card party Friday, August 12, or for the bridge tea, August 19. Preceding the afternoon party will be 12 o'clock luncheon, for which reservations should be made in advance. Hostesses on that occasion will be Mesdames Garland Ross, Frederic Dunstan and Hugh Shields. Hosts for the evening card event will be Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ranney and the Stewart Scoullers.

Chairman of club social activities for the month of August, so she and Mr. Wagner will assist all workers in carrying out plans for the various functions.

The Riley Hubers, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fernandez and Mr. and Mrs. William Jeffrey will be hosts at the monthly dance, the date for which will be determined soon. Although Juniors will not have a dance this month, plans already are under way for the September dancing party, in which the younger set will participate.

Business Women Enjoy Memorable Evening At Modjeska Inn

When arrangements for midsummer's informal sessions of Business and Professional Women were left to the decision of the club's health and recreation committee under Miss Vanche Plumb, way was pointed to one of the most enjoyable evenings of the year, last night's dinner in a sylvan setting and a speaker entirely familiar with the history of that setting.

For Miss Plumb, noted for her nature lore, and her co-workers had designated Modjeska Inn up the canyon named for the world-famous tragedienne who once made it her home, as scene of the dinner meeting, and introduced Terry E. Stephenson, author of various books pertaining to the county's history, as speaker.

It was no cut and dried, formally presented history of the canyon which Mr. Stephenson gave. Instead he took his audience on a little ramble back through the years to some of the dramatic days of Murietta the bandit, and his probable lair at Robber's Peak; Juan Flores, the most famous desperado in the whole California's history, and Francisco Toreros, the object of the county's only lynching. In sharp contrast to this tragic history of the early days, was the picture he painted of life in the Canyon when Madame Modjeska made it her home—a gracious life of early California hospitality, culture and beauty.

Little way trails he followed, led to descriptions of the liveoak and sycamore that gradually yield place to the maple spruce and cypress to higher altitudes; then to the present bird sanctuary in the Canyon, where Ben Tucker welcomes the fairy visitors of as many as 6,000 hummingbirds and a thousand quail.

Mr. Stephenson's allusions to Madame Modjeska were followed by various anecdotes of that famous personage, related by Mr. Stephenson, who as a young bride to the canyon, came in touch with the celebrity. Then to the Modjeska lived at the home of Miss Rosa Boyd and the late Dr. Boyd, close friends of Madame Modjeska. Further supplementing the quaint tales were the interesting pictures of Modjeska and of her husband, Count Charles Bonzetta and their Canyon home, brought by Mrs. J. E. Pleasants, also a personal friend of the two.

All of these interesting features were sequel to the very enjoyable dinner meeting served at the Inn with its rustic setting beneath the big canyon trees, a delightful spot to which all clubwomen anticipate, an early return. Miss Ethel Coffman presided over the meeting and introduction of guests, of whom there were several in addition to guest speakers, Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson and Mrs. Pleasants.

Other members and guests present were Lena Thomas, Catherine Stinson, Laura McNaught, Harriet Whiddle, Lorraine French, Elizabeth Perkins, Martha Whitson, Edith Davidson, Ethel Hedrick, Lulu R. Finley, Isabel Lindsay, Elizabeth Hart, Juanita Snyder, Mary N. Hilyard, Gladys Groves, Myrtle Catherine, Alma Karlsson, Carme R. Zimmerman, Chloe Foster, Louise Chapman, Henrietta Foster, Abby W. Chapman, Ella Vezie, Janet Humphrey, Mabel Cole, Louise Kaiser, Marie Fowler, Hazel Northcross, Alice Waser, Anita Alexander, Damaris Beriman, Lana Brokaw, Vanche Etoile Plumb, Lulu B. Ott, Helen Gallagher and Eleanor Elliott.

Subordinate Lodge I.O.O.F. has announced a picnic supper for tomorrow night at 6:30 o'clock in Irvine park, to which all Odd Fellows and Rebekahs and their families are invited. The host lodge will provide meat and coffee. Dancing in the park pavilion is planned for the evening hours.

Visitors From New York Are Complimented

Interesting guests from New York City in the Charles Borchard home in Tustin, Prof. Dwight Minor of Columbia University, and Mrs. Minor, inspired two successive events of much charm at which Mr. and Mrs. Borchard were hosts Saturday and Sunday.

Saturday evening's hospitality was a formal dinner, for which a charming setting was created by the many flowers in rich summer hues, culled from the surrounding gardens. Places were indicated for the hosts, and for Prof. and Mrs. Minor, Mrs. Teresa Maunula and her daughter Elma, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Voelker of Oxnard; Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Bauer of Ventura, and the young people of the home, Miss Carolyn, Charles Jr., Richard, Jack and Paul Borchard.

Bridge was after-dinner diversion for the group of house-guests.

On Sunday, one of the barbecue dinners for which the Borchard home is noted, was served in the lightful out-door living room where barbecue grills are a part of the interesting equipment. The long table where the delicious fare was served, was set within a rose entwined arbor.

Additional guests bidden to share the gala event were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holpin and Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Haidt and daughter Betty of Los Angeles; the John Vincent Borchards of this city; Brud Dunn of Monrovia, with Miss Berenice Borchard, Miss Wilma and Miss Anita Borchard, and Miss Marian Borchard, all of this community.

In the afternoon while older members of the party again enjoyed informal bridge play, the four young sons of the home and Miss Anita Borchard made up a theater party. But the beach offered its lure to others in the group, including the two daughters of the home, the Misses Elizabeth and Carolyn Borchard, with the Misses Wilma and Marian Borchard and Messrs. Roland, Jones, South Pasadena, Jimmie Dale, Bob Reynolds and Fred Northrup, Westwood.

LATE NEWS FROM ORANGE

HOLD HEARING ON NEW BUDGET

ORANGE, Aug. 2.—A public hearing was held in conjunction with the meeting of the elementary school board at the intermediate school last night, with no resident of the district appearing to protest the proposed budget of $96,969 for 1938-39. The total amount to be raised by taxes is $58,312.

Costs as scheduled include $63,170 for instruction; operation of the plant, $13,060; administration costs, $4514; fixed charges, $1,450; co-ordinating activities and auxiliaries, $3025; capital outlays, $4300; and non-bonded debt service, $100. An undistributed reserve totals $6000.

According to C. I. Thomas, superintendent of the school the tax rate for the district may be slightly higher the coming year than last year. The rate will be fixed as soon as the school receives the assessed valuation for the district, which it is expected will be forthcoming the latter part of the week. A report made last night revealed that no further information has been received regarding the application for $30,300 toward construction of a new school building to replace the old Center street school which is to be built at a cost of approximately $67,000. Word of the grant of funds from PWA is expected daily.

WPA OFFICERS SET BLAME FOR FUROR

praised as unfit for heavy work," Farnum said. "With this new garden project we will have succeeded in answering this particular side of the WPA puzzle."

"The rest of the complaints are those of disgruntled 'Class A' workers who have not been able to fit into the administration of WPA."

"Many of the men who have been let out of WPA jobs may be competent in their jobs as far as the technical training is concerned but there are other phases of WPA work to be considered. One is the ability of the bosses to get along with the men."

Need For Adjustments

"It is true that there is a constant flow of matters to be adjusted in the county and it is for this reason that we have set up a complaint and adjustment department in Santa Ana."

"Routine cases that are adjusted easily are handled here, under the direction of Mrs. Josephine Hearle. We are attempting to help the people of this county just as we are in every county."

Rival producer: "...that train wreck looked okay. If the box office reports are okay, we'll rush a train wreck into 'Love's Sweet Dreams'...Joe, you watch the box office reports..."

Years ago, when Janet Gaynor was an extra, she promised to marry a young newspaper reporter named Herbert Moulton, who had worked overtime trying to convince the Hollywood casting directors that his girl friend should have a break. Then came "Sunrise" and "Seventh Heaven"; the extra girl became a great star and the boy-meets-girl romance ended as suddenly as it had started. Ever since, writers have been accusing Janet of ditching Mr. Moulton when he gained success. Just what the circumstances actually were, I do not pretend to know, but if Herb Moulton felt that he was the victim of Janet's false pride, he must be chucking now. During the past ten years he has climbed steadily in the Paramount studio. A few days ago, he was appointed to an executive post that makes him one of the industry's "biggest" in his particular line of work. And Janet, meanwhile, has slipped far down the box office list.

Lunching in the Brown Derby today when a middle-aged woman, flourishing an autograph book burst through the mob at the door and charged down the aisle, apparently bound for the table where Clark Gable was sitting. He saw her coming, shrugged resignedly and started to get to his feet. It was wasted effort for she stopped short of his table and thrust her book and pencil into the hands of Kenneth Harlan, a one-time idol who has been an obscure bit-player these past ten years. "Mr. Harlan," she gushed, "you've always been my favorite—I recognized you when you came in." Ken glanced at Clark, then bowed gravely. "Madame," he said, "you've just paid me the greatest compliment of my entire career."

Superstitious? Well, this may help you ease. Today at RKO, I was chatting with Jack Oakie and a writer named Oliver Drake. Drake struck a match, offered Jack a light, gave me one, then started to light his own. Jack stopped him. "Three on a match—bad luck," he warned. Drake laughed. "Not for me," he retorted. "About ten years ago, when I was flat broke and starving, a producer gave me that same warning. I asked him if he knew how the superstition had started, told him my version—and he paid me $500 for the picture rights! That was my first Hollywood break!"

Charles Winninger is inordinately proud of his prime physical condition and firmly believes that now, at fifty-four, he is a better man than most who are twenty years younger. The other day, I watched him play a boxing scene with Melvyn Cooper, a scene in which Cooper had to take an awful drubbing. When it was "in the can," he had settled into his chair, puffing and blowing, he turned to me. "That," he said with supreme disgust, "was the most difficult scene I've ever played. I could lick him if the script would only turn me loose."

Ran across Willie Best, better known as "Sleepin' Est" on the lot today. He seemed to be riding high and I asked him how come. "Boy," said he, "ah got cause for mah jubilation. 'Tud' studio just picked up mah auction!"

Mixing Bowl

BY ANN MEREDITH

Don't you think that mothers are apt to forget their own young days and how much giving a party meant to them? Personally, I think it is good training to turn over the house occasionally to let young son or daughter and let them have a few friends in for supper; it works out in my house. I make son-and-daughter responsible for their friends' good behavior, keeping noise at a reasonable level, and putting the house in order after the party is over. The food for these occasions should be planned very carefully and the party-giver instructed how to finish the dishes. Plainly written instructions should be tacked above the kitchen table, then make yourself scarce. For hot weather, this is one of our favorite supper eggs: a delicious potato salad with a mustard flavored cooked meat, served with cold sliced veal loaf and smoked liverwurst. A sauce is served with the meat: horseradish mustard, 1 part, sweet pickle relish, 1 part, whipped cream, 2 parts. On the table have crackers and soft cheese, tart jelly, hot rolls or good bread and butter, and for dessert make a pan of sherbet and let them serve it on slices of angel food cake with coffee or iced tea.

When you entertain your own friends here is a hot dish that will bring you compliments aplenty.

Chicken Liver Ring With Creamed Cucumbers

Cook 1 pound of chicken livers, drain and chop fine. Heat 1 can of cream of mushroom soup with 1/2 cup chicken liver broth, thickened until very stiff with flour (2 level tbsps.) and cool. Beat 4 eggs, (whites beaten separately). Stir the yolks into the soup base, add the livers and 2-3 cup cooked rice. Season with a pinch of nutmeg, cayenne, salt, paprika and celery seed. Whip 1/2 cup heavy cream stiff and combine with the mixture. Fold in beaten egg whites and spoon mixture into a buttered ring mold. Stand 30 minutes in hot water and bake 30 minutes in a 375 degree oven. Unmold and serve with cubed boiled cucumbers masked with a nutmeg flavored cream sauce poured around the ring, the center filled with hot green peas. (6 portions in recipe).

TELL ME

"Come Bunny, gather up your things. It is almost time for your at the littered floor. Blocks, a book, an engine, a ball and a couple of wooly toys in a wagon. To him this seemed a mountain that waited to be moved and his tired mind and body felt unequal to the task."

"Tell me," he pleaded. "Tell me and I'll do it." He wanted somebody to organize the job, give it a lift so that its full weight might not fall upon him.

"Tell you? All right. You run the wagon into the hall closet, I'll gather the blocks. Good. Now you put your ball in the engine. So. I'll put it on the shelf while you put the book on its shelf. All done. We were smart, weren't we?" Bunny laughed in relief, took the hand that was held out to him and trotted cheerfully off to his hands and face washed.

Often the children's strength is limited and any strain brings it down to lowest levels. In some understanding grown person, like a teacher, or parent, comes to the rescue with a set of directions and a sustaining spirit, what a relief.

Carrying responsibility is a trying experience. After a child has been in some field of activity his long for spell of rest, brief though it be, it is welcome and refreshing. The wise teacher knows this and always takes charge of the class after they have had a period of self direction. The feeling of class unity, of responsibility, leadership comes to the relief of overstrained abilities and nerves.

Many a temper tantrum, many a flood of tears, can be avoided by timely aid. It is a nice adjustment of ideas, of course, and requires a lively intelligence for its execution, but my competent teacher or parent can master the little bits of technique needed. The three times most marked about mid-morning, middle afternoon, and evening. The demands on initiative, self direction, personal responsibility should be made before these periods set in. Help, strong cooperation, should be given in the periods of lowest power.

This takes for granted that the child has actually been putting forth effort. This can safely be assumed for any healthy child. If he has not been using energy in the direction you are offering, he has been doing so in other directions; maybe in opposing you. In any case, come to his relief and "tell him."

Children cannot sustain themselves for any length of time through difficulties and we should be ready and willing to help them not be seasoned, their strength is too new, for any prolonged strain. Give them a rest occasionally by "telling them."

Caught by the candid camera at the Senate Civil Liberties Committee investigation of labor policy of "little steel" companies is Senator Robert M. La Follette, chief inquirer. La Follette's questioning of one company representative led to a high tension it developed that the witness helped carry Cleveland for La Follette's father in the 1924 presidential election.

The present record is 8,000 feet and is held by Dr. R. H. Goddard, whose rockets have been released in New Mexico. The two Pasadena workers are convinced they can exceed this mark.

They have completed their experiments in the Arroyo Seco river bottom near here and now are determined on the style of rocket to be built and the manner of explosive energy to be used.

The rocket being constructed, and which will probably be shot 100 discharges in the next two months, will stand 20 inches high and will have four fins.

It is to weigh only between one and two pounds, with the fuel weighing four-fifths of a pound. This fuel, however, is arranged in such a manner that during the course of the flight there will be 100 discharges at the rate of five or ten seconds.

The cartridges containing these charges will be fired by a mechanism similar to a machine gun. The impulse from each discharge will continue "kicking" the rocket higher and higher into the air.

The smokeless powder to be used has twice the power of black powder. The powder also provides more power than the gas commonly used.

The rocket will be equipped with a parachute and an altimeter which will bring down its speed.

4 Suits, 4 Jokers In Freak Deck

VANCOUVER, B. C. (UP)—Now is the time for all good men to watch their cards.

The recent five-suit deck of 65 cards is getting around the country, and now W. Feldner of Vancouver has invented another deck of 64 cards, containing four suits of 15 cards each and four jokers.

Feldner believes the pack is practically cheat proof, and that it will eliminate a lot of the confusion of luck in distribution and add to the mathematical qualities of the game.

Feldner's deck has additional one-suits in each suit, and one more honor per suit, the jockey, ranking between the jack and the queen. The additional jokers are called grandmasters.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(UP)—Stocks swung forward 1 to 2 points under strong leadership today on indications that selling which had been in progress since last Wednesday had become exhausted.

The advance occurred shortly after the opening when a first hour dip disclosed strong supporting orders under the market. A scattered amount of buying was sufficient to turn industrial leaders higher and the rail group joined smartly in the rise.

The Russo-Japanese incident and new nervousness over the middle-eastern situation had little effect on stock prices. Japanese stocks, however, broke around 5 points.

An agitated foreign exchange market had little influence on quotations. Coincident with the flight of European gold to the best level in some sixteen months, the pound sterling, Netherlands guilder and French franc broke to new lows for the year and longer in terms of dollar.

The movement reflected the flight of European capital on the disturbing foreign developments.

There were several bright spots in domestic news. Steel scrap at Pittsburgh rose 25 cents a ton to a level which mills in that district reported improving demand for heavy steels and better buying from the automobile industry.

PROFESSIONAL RELIEF SEEKERS

A news item tells of a Negro taxi driver who was unable to work for a time because of illness. He obtained $50 from a government relief agency to tide him over. Now he is back at work, and is trying to return the money. When it was pointed out to him that he was not legally obligated to do this, he observed that "that was the way I was raised, and that's the way I'm raising my child."

A great many other Americans can learn a lesson from this Negro taxi driver. One of the most ominous portents of the horizon is the fact that thousands of people apparently have come to look on relief as a "profession." They plan to make it their "life work." Productive jobs in private industry hold no attraction for them, when they can take it easy at the taxpayers' expense. They figure someone owes them a living.

This isn't a criticism of those people who have turned to relief only as a last resort, and are eager to get off the rolls as soon as opportunity for a real job comes along. Nor is it a criticism of relief per se. Honest beneficiaries of relief aggressively seek real employment. Professional "relief seekers" are a new menace to democratic government.

The Negro's statement was news because his attitude was so unusual today. It should be printed on every relief check and public grant.

MONTH OF WARS

With the month of July behind them, countries of Europe may be expected to breathe a sigh of relief. This month, named for the war-minded Julius Caesar, has seen the beginnings of a number of modern wars and conflicts among European nations.

The World War which exacted 5,132,115 lives of soldiers of the allied forces and 8,538,315 in lives of soldiers of the Central powers, began July 28, 1914. The Spanish Civil war still in progress, began July 19, 1936 and Italy invaded Ethiopia, in July of 1934.

According to a statistical report made by Prof. Pitirim A. Sorokin, chairman of the department of sociology at Harvard, there have been 902 wars and 1,615 internal disturbances in the past 2,500 years of history.

The sociologist does not strike a very hopeful note when he states that the war index for the twentieth century reached a total eight times greater than all the preceding centuries in the 2,500 years.

Prof. A. Sorokin states that Spain led with wars occurring during 67 per cent of the years of her history. Germany was lowest with 28 per cent of the years of her history. England was rated at 56 per cent, France, 50 per cent; Italy, 36 per cent; Russia 46 per cent; ancient Greece 57 per cent and ancient Rome 40 per cent.

THREE "MUSTS" OF TRAFFIC SAFETY

Better law enforcement, plus better driver education, plus better highways, constitute the key to automobile prevention, according to experts. And none of the three ingredients can be left out of this "safety stew" if we are to get results.

Better law enforcement doesn't mean tough policemen, and traffic judges who decree the maximum punishment on every possible occasion. It does mean modernized traffic codes, "fixless" tickets, such as we have in Santa Ana, and judges and prosecutors who do their duty without fear or favor. It means a type of law enforcement whose principal purpose is not punishment, but accident prevention. Often some sound advice will do more to curb a reckless and thoughtless driver, than a fine.

Better driver education requires the scientific approach. Drivers must be appealed to on every possible occasion, by the written and spoken word. Messages must be made simple, vivid and memorable. The great majority of drivers involved in accidents can be made into safe car operators. In the case of the small percentage which is congenitally reckless, revocation of licenses seems to be the only cure.

Better highway construction is where the engineer comes in. When you build a road on which it is impossible to have a major accident, you've solved the traffic problem so far as that road is concerned. And modern planning makes it possible to come remarkably close to that ideal, through the use of under and over passes, traffic lane separation, and approaches which do not permit cars travelling in opposite directions to meet. The highway of the future not only will be faster than that of today, but immeasurably safer.

Accident prevention involves the long pull. It can't be achieved overnight. But properly directed and continuous campaign, over a period of time, will turn the trick.

AN UPRISING OF WAGE-EARNERS

Americans have shown throughout their history a patience and a respect for their courts and other governmental agencies, which does them credit.

When they have protested against the acts of such agencies it has been because they had reason to feel they were being betrayed.

The popular uprising in Holliday's Cove and Weirton, W. Va., against the NLRB trial examiner and his methods in the case brought by the Steel Workers Organization Committee, a unit of the C.I.O., against the Weirton Steel Co., affords proof of this.

The examiner expelled the chief of the Weirton defense counsel from the hearing, after having refused him permission to defend the integrity of a defense witness.

When 5000 local steel workers and business men threatened to stage a demonstration in protest against this obvious discrimination, the examiner picked up his papers and ran away to Pittsburgh.

The Wagner Act and its administrative agency, the NLRB, were created, ostensibly to see that the interests of wage-earners were protected.

When wage-earners themselves protest, as they did in this case, against unfair practices by a NLRB trial examiner, there is no longer room for doubt that the law and its administration is not fulfilling that purpose.

The Wagner Act has been exploited by certain labor leaders, with the aid of the NLRB to ram the C.I.O. down the throats of workers, to compel them to pay dues for the enrichment of agitators and organizers, to regiment them, to take away their freedom of action, to force them into a yoke where they must answer the crack of the whip.

Against that sort of thing the steel workers at

DAILY MONEY WAGES

The belief that the workers can, by law or by unions, have a high money wage and at the same time buy things that are produced at a low wage, undoubtedly is one of the causes of the worst and longest depression in our history.

There probably is no belief that has done mankind more harm than that collective bargaining and labor laws can raise real wages and better the working man's lot as a whole. Instead of raising wages for all the workers, all they can do is to raise them for some of the workers by lowering them for other workers; by one working man lifting his standard of living by pushing down another worker.

We now have the highest hourly wages for some workers in our history and there are no wages at all for some ten million workers. And most of these ten million workers have to be supported by those who are working. So even those who are working are not benefited, in the long run, by the high hourly wage.

It is not the money wage, or the hourly wage, that really counts. It is that every worker has a job on a free competitive basis for all the energy he cares to sell. And when this happens, there will be so much produced that the real wages of the worker, (what he can buy with a given unit of energy), will be a great deal more than it ever has been, or can possibly be, when wages are established by a restricted collective bargaining method or by law.

It is more and more production of what people want that is needed, and not more restriction by the monopolistic method of unions or laws, that will raise real wages. What is produced will be distributed. The property tax and the elements and obsolescence force the use and distribution of wealth, or it is lost by its owner. A graduated tax on consumption would also help broaden the distribution. But it cannot be distributed by collective bargaining or by artificial wages established by law because it cannot and will not be produced in large enough quantities by these methods, so the workers suffer, instead of being benefited. This is verified by history.

The columns of this newspaper are open to anyone to explain how ALL the workers—not a selected group—can possibly be benefited by collective bargaining or by raising wages by law, as a contributor has recently contended.

PRICES OF HAY

In some parts of Ohio, good timothy hay is offered as low as $2 per ton and failing to find a buyer. Hay with a good portion of clover, possibly brings $3. This was for old hay taken out of the mow.

The market for soy beans was around $1.30 last year. They are talking of a price of 30 cents per bushel this year.

While it is evident that there are fewer horses in the country and there is less demand for hay, yet one is compelled to wonder whether the agricultural restrictions, limiting other crops, has not caused the land to be used for hay resulting in a large supply.

It is doubtful if there were no tax on the land and the owner received nothing for its use whether hay could be cut and harvested and pay the workers 20 cents an hour and sell it for $2 a ton.

It might be possible that the same cause is affecting the price of soy beans.

This just illustrates the fact that when any interference is made with the natural law of supply and demand of any article, it laps over into kindred articles and does great injustice to the producers of these crops that are not protected.

Attempting to fix the price of one article is like stacking cards. When one card is moved, it throws the equilibrium of every other card out of line and eventually the whole structure falls. Just so, restriction of production in any article, results in the complete elimination of free enterprise.

Weirton have protested emphatically and dramatically. And the NLRB's examiner has sought safety in flight, with more speed than either grace or dignity. —Detroit Free Press.

MEXICO HEADS FOR A SMASHUP

Mexico has taken the brakes off its slow moving twenty year old revolution and wherever it's headed the pace is faster. President Cardenas may not like it. He's being hustled and it may be much against his better judgment. A cautious revolutionary is never on firm ground. Toledano, the Mexican John Lewis, head of the Mexican labor confederation, is a tougher fellow than Lewis himself and, if it could be possible, he has more leeway.

Seizure of American owned farm land has been going on for ten years. The property is not all in great ranch holdings. Some of it is in moderate sized farms. The promise is to pay compensation. Secretary Hull in his new note of protest says that a value of ten million dollars is placed on these lands and that the injured owners are left "not only without present payment but without any assurance of payment will be made within any foreseeable time." Mr. Hull remains amiable. The situation doesn't.

Communistically minded Mexican workers forced expropriation of the American and British oil properties and put Cardenas in a deep hole financially. He had to justify it theoretically and the United States helped him out by conceding the Mexican government's right to repossess its national resources. Mexico conceded that compensation must be paid, but it can't be. Cardenas cannot raise the money. Moreover, he can't sell much of the oil. The government loses revenue, the workers lose pay, and the owners are defrauded.

The Mexican National railroad has just been turned over to the railroad unions to have and to operate. The workers immediately boosted the freight rates sky high. In line with this transfer of ownership and administration the government expropriated some foreign owned industrial plants and gave them to the workers. Mexico cannot pay for the confiscations. Indeed, every one of them reduces government revenue along with the national income and the earnings of the people. Distress will breed more revolutionaries both right and left. Toledano is driving Cardenas to a smashup. —Chicago Tribune.

Petersburg Progress Index: "... Congress could do nothing calculated to have greater effect in improving relations between capital and labor than to amend the law increasing labor responsibility and giving to the employer the rights and privileges in dealing with the labor board that are granted to the employee. Eventually this will be done. It is a reform which is needed now."

Half-Way-Around-the-World Flight

General Hugh S. JOHNSON SAYS

BETHANY BEACH, Del.—Henry Wallace, temporary chairman of the Iowa Democratic convention, said that the Republicans refused to do anything for the farmers in the years following the war, but that there had been six years of "genuinely glorious achievement" for farmers by the Democrats.

Mr. Wallace is right in the first part of that statement. The Republicans took the farmers for granted for just four years too long. It was their biggest blunder. During the whole post-war period of agricultural distress, some Democrats and Republicans battled for "equality for agriculture." They took the first farm-relief bill through two enactments—and two vetoes. It was a long, bitter battle, in which those of us who fought take great pride. But among those veterans of the old wars was not Mr. Wallace. He was supporting those Republicans who, he now says, met the farm crisis with the attitude: "Let the farmers go broke and lose their farms."

Somewhat Mr. Roosevelt got the idea that two Republicans, Mr. Wallace and Mr. Ickes, swung the farm states from the Republican to the Democratic column in 1932. The truth is that they had little to do with it. That was done by the veterans of the Twelve Years war. Mr. Wallace was not among the authors and advisers in shaping Mr. Roosevelt's 1932 farm campaign policies and, at the beginning of that shaping, neither Mr. Ickes nor Mr. Roosevelt even knew what the issues were and Mr. Wallace hadn't made up his mind.

The second part of Mr. Wallace's statement is not correct. As far as any fundamental solution of the farm problem is concerned there is no "glorious achievement." Through artificial price manipulation, plus direct subsidy, farm prices have been maintained on the domestic market above world levels. The result has been to destroy a large part of the farm export market. This has permanently closed an outlet for millions of acres. The basic agricultural situation is far worse since Mr. Wallace took it over and began to mess it up.

The farm problem is a price problem and there is no solution except direct subsidy of domestic consumption without any of Mr. Wallace's Fascist tinkering with the operation of every farm. It would not cost the public any more and it would solve the farmer's difficulty and save the country from this buccolic Nazi.

The secretary seems bemused. He has advocated putting industry under exactly the dictatorial one-man control that has been saddled on agriculture. He now says that it was good that the "federal debt today was as large as it is."

His argument is that, by taking over and paying for the functions of the states, cities and counties, the federal government kept them from spending that money and incurring that increased debt! He lumps federal, local and private debt together and says that we are better off, because private debt has decreased, local public debt has increased and this justifies the vast increase in federal debt.

The decrease in private debt has been partly through bankruptcy and destruction of values and partly through scaring investment money

Fellow Citizens: Like Humpty Dumpty, who could not be put back together after his momentous fall, King Cotton has also fallen and broken his crown so badly it is very doubtful if "all the king's horses and all the king's men" can ever put it back together again.

For so many years that it seemed as if it would always be that way, the United States has supplied the markets of the world with more cotton than all other countries put together. That is so no longer; King Cotton has lost his American crown, probably forever.

Like Brazil, with her coffee policy, the United States has had a comparable cotton policy. By trying to support the world coffee price by restricting marketings, Brazil made it easy and profitable for competing nations to increase their production and as their production increased, it became harder for Brazil to sell at its pegged price. Substitute the word "cotton" for coffee and "United States" for Brazil and the above statement fits our case perfectly. But Brazil, last year admitted her coffee policy to be a failure and abandoned it while we still persist in continuing our cotton policy despite identical results. Strangely enough, Brazil who suffered as a result of her own control policy, has been one of the countries which have profited most from ours. If any one thinks that this is a personal, reactionary opinion of my own let me suggest a glance at the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture figures.

For 13 years prior to 1933, Brazil averaged 539,000 bales of cotton a year but her 1933-34 production jumped from 455,000 bales the previous year to over 1 million bales. Last year she doubled that again with over 2 million bales.

Prior to 1933 Argentina averaged about 100,000 bales but in 1933-34 she produced 200,000 bales and last year produced 500,000 bales; an increase of 5 times in 5 years. American experts predict that Argentina will very soon be producing a million bales a year.

In the last 5 years Russia has increased her production from 11-2 million to 31-2 million; China from less than 2 million to over 4 million bales.

Prior to 1933 India was decreasing her production but during the last 5 years has increased again from less than 4 million bales to over 5 million bales.

Our cotton policy reduced our production, (with the exception of this last year) approximately 3 million bales a year compared to our out of productive enterprise. It is characteristic of the secretary that he can see no difference between federal debt and local and private debt.

The difference is this—that the credit of the nation, the value of its money, its whole price structure, its strength in war and peace, the purchasing power of every wage, salary, pension and income and the security of every savings account and insurance policy depend on keeping federal debt, deficits and spending within reasonable bounds. This is not true of either private debt or state or local public debt. There is nothing but danger in Mr. Wallace's plan of shifting state and local powers and obligations to one-man control in Washington—but no Fascist would agree with that.

REAL AND BOGUS INCOME

BY GUS W. DYER

Professor of Economics and Sociology, Vanderbilt University

The President in a recent fire-side "dissertation" read a comparison between the national income in 1932—the worst year of the 1929 depression — and the probable national income of 1938—the first year of the present depression.

"In 1932," said the President, "the total national income of all the country had reached the low point of 38 billion dollars in that year. This year 1938, while it is too early to give more than an estimate, we hope that the national income will not fall below 60 billion dollars." The inference is that if the national income reaches the President's hopes in 1938, it will be 22 billion dollars greater than the national income of 1932.

In comparing the national income of 1932 with the national income of 1938, the President overlooks two things vital to such a comparison. The depressed condition of business in 1932 was probably as much due to the fear as to the actual state of the national administration as it was to the economic depression of 1929. The fear of radicalism is more deadly to business in this country than an economic depression. Business has demonstrated the fact over and over again that it can lift itself out of any type of economic depression under constitutional industrial freedom. But American business is always helpless under radical political domination and control. Hence the depression continues.

The second vital consideration ignored by the President in comparing the national incomes of 1932 and 1938 is the fact that the 38 billion dollars income of 1932 was measured by 100 cents gold dollars. The national income of 1938 is measured by a 59 cent (and a fraction) dollar, based on faith alone. In making a comparison of values, the length of the yardsticks used is a vital matter. The President seems to forget this. In 1932 every dollar held by anyone had a market value, independent of the government, of 100 cents in gold, because every dollar was redeemable in gold. The New Deal dollar designated as having a value of 59 cents plus a fraction is not redeemable in anything. National income measured by such an ethereal dollar as this, at best must be accepted with extreme caution.

But suppose we give this 59 cent dollar full credit for its value as declared by the administration, what do we get in comparing the national income of 1932 with that of 1938? Since the New Deal dollar has a value of less than 60 cents as compared with the gold dollar of 1932, 40 per cent of the estimated national income of 1938 must be subtracted in order to make the comparison intelligible. When this essential subtraction is made, the 60 billion dollar income of 1938 is brought down to 36 billion dollars, or two billion dollars less than the low income of 1932.

Since the administration has increased the national debt more than 15 billion dollars in order to get the country out of the depression, this must now be recorded as a national liability. If we add the 15 billion dollars' loss to the two billion dollars' loss in national income in 1938 as compared with 1932, we find that we are moving back instead of forward at a hazardous rate of speed.

In using national income as a measure of industrial progress and prosperity, it is well to remember that it is only the income that represents goods of value produced or services of value rendered that can be counted properly. A very large part of the New Deal income is made up of the income of the great army of public officials whose services are of very questionable value. A large part of this income counted is made up of money borrowed and spent on government works that will bring no return whatsoever in material values. How much of our income is real and how much is bogus is difficult to determine.

News Behind The News

By PAUL MALLON

World Copyright 1938 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The agriculture department it appears on the surface, does not even know how to grow grass. Acres of lawn around the governmental farm palace on the mall are full of vast vacant spots, crab grass, dandelions. It looks as if the parlor farmers here had been planning it that way again.

This is by no consideration, trivial. A cabinet crisis has fortunately just been averted on the issue, and a New Deal experiment has been born out of it.

Inside seriousness of the situation developed one day several weeks ago when Agriculture Secretary Wallace, strolling into his office building with a friend, observed the unsightly crop around his national planning palace for all growing things. He remarked: "The National Park service should read our pamphlet on the care of lawns."

It was fortunate he did not say such a thing on the telephone where one of Mr. Ickes men might have picked it up. The NPS is under the interior department. Under existing arrangements, all federal grass is grown by that department, instead of by the agriculture department which merely issues pamphlets telling everyone else how to grow grass.

Mr. Wallace followed word with action. He wrote a kind letter, not to Mr. Ickes who was then discovering some burning question in Alaska which required cooler judgments than he was able to give it from Washington in August—not to Mr. Ickes, but to Mr. Marshall Finnan of National Capital Parks, under Mr. Ickes.

Wallace suggested the NPS and his Bureau of Plant Industry get together and start a re-grassing experiment around the agriculture building. His men would furnish the equipment. It was amicably agreed. Experiment starts August 9.

This crab grass matter which has been troubling two-thirds of a nation was not specifically mentioned in the Democratic platform of 1936, but the agriculture department has been trying to do what it could.

Truth is its excellent pamphlet (Farmers Bulletin No. 1677 on to shoot every tenth dairy cow." This was said by F. D. Roosevelt at Topeka on Sept. 14, 1932.

In this letter I have expressed my own opinion as little as possible, merely trying to present a few thought provoking facts to reflect on. A great change is taking place in the cotton industry but what the ultimate outcome will be, I don't pretend to know and no one else does either. I can only hope everything will turn out for the best but I do know that in trying to solve one problem we have created two or three new ones and the first one hasn't been solved either.

Everything I have stated as facts are derived from government figures or other reliable sources, however if any are found erroneous, I would be glad to have them corrected.
